PRUSSIA AND THE ROMAN QUESTION.

LONDON, September 19.—The Berlin correspondent of the Tribune writes on the 15th: Bismarck is busy at Rheims settling various diplomatic matters relating to non-intervention by Germany in Italy. It is agreed that the Italians may occupy Rome, Savoy and Nice, if the people wish to renounce their former alliance. Other European Cabinets have been notified accordingly.

REORGANIZATION OF GERMANY—ALSACE AND LORRAINE.

The reorganization of Germany was also considered. Details have been postponed. For the present it will be understood that a common constitution will be given all the States north and south of the Main alike, with ample guarantees for healthy political and economical development. Bavaria and Baden distinctly decline territorial enlargement, while arguing that Alsace and Lorraine must return to Germany. The recently appointed Civil Commissioner for Alsace, Von Kehlwetter, has telegraphed to the Boards of Trade at Elberfeld and Bremen for their views of the influence upon the German industrial interests of the admission of Alsace and the department of Moselle into the German Zollvereine.

INTERVIEW OF LORD LYONS' SECRETARY WITH BISMARCK.

Mr. Mallet, Second Secretary of the British Embassy, who succeeded in getting to the Prussian Headquarters, returned on Friday, bringing an answer from Bismarck to Lord Lyons. Before this mission, Lyons had asked Favre whether, if England requested an armistice, the French Government would welcome her intervention. When this became known to Lord Granville, Lyons was politely rebuked for his pains. But on improving the situation, Lyons then sent Mallet on an informal mission to Bismarck, notifying Granville. After Mallet had gone, Granville forthwith directed Lyons to summon Mallet back. Lyons obeyed, but the messenger took the wrong road, and Mallet, after several failures in making his way through the crowd of Uhlans, reached the King's headquarters. Out of all this succession of cross purposes grew considerable coolness between Lyons and Granville. Mallet's talk with Bismarck was plain and to the point. He asked for an ultimatum. "We must have Metz and Strasburg," said Bismarck.

"Dismantled?" asked Mallet.

"No," replied Bismarck; "stronger than ever."

"Then suppose the French Government finds your terms impossible?"

"We shall invest and starve Paris, and if that does not succeed we shall try sharper means."

"Would you bombard the city?"

"Certainly, and burn it, if forced. The necessity is sad; but how to escape it?"

Bismarck talked about Gladstone and Granville and their timid message carrying. It was the reverse of respectful, and he did not hesitate to let it be seen that he cared nothing for the efforts of outsiders, and was resolved to settle all questions with France alone. For Lyons [illegible] Bismarck [illegible] respect and good will, and cordially advised him to get out of Paris while he could. The written answer sent by Bismarck to Lyons [illegible], but Lyons [illegible] by thinks Bismarck means to have Paris in his hands before concluding a peace, as the most effectual means of [illegible].

[illegible] French Government at heart [illegible]. Trochu told Lyons he would do his best. He added, "There will be a massacre, and then will be followed by anarchy." The Ministers still utter brave words. Russia's attitude is still one of reserve. It has come out that Gortschakoff was asked by England to join in the French guarantee for [illegible]. He answered, "Yes, if you will include Poland."

FAVRE GONE TO MEET BISMARCK.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—A late dispatch from Paris announces that pursuant with the arrangements [illegible] through the efforts of Lord Lyons and Count [illegible], M. Jules Favre has gone to meet Count Bismarck. No basis has been agreed upon by which negotiations shall be conducted. M. Favre's proposals are not definitely known.

THE INVESTMENT OF PARIS.

Reports from Prussian headquarters detail the successful progress of the investment of Paris. An interview between Favre and Bismarck will occur shortly, but no delay will be caused in the investment of the city, unless the meeting should have some important result.

THE END APPROACHING.

The Times this morning says: "There is a chance, almost a hope, that the end of the war is approaching. We have it on reliable authority that M. Jules Favre is prepared to acknowledge the obligation of France to repair in the measure of justice the wrong which the Imperial Government inflicted upon Germany. If the fair terms of peace which now exist prove abortive, the exact points for which the war continues will be denned. The judgment of the world will be severe upon that side whose recklessness will be the cause of a second period of devastation."

Paris advices announce that M. Thiers has abandoned the idea of going to Russia by way of Switzerland, and has gone to St. Petersburg in a Government steam yacht. The railway between Paris and Rouen has been cut in several places.

AMERICAN-FRENCH VOLUNTEERS.

LONDON, September 19.—Trochu has received the advance guard of American volunteers. So says the [illegible] Messenger, referring possibly to the [illegible] corps, and possibly to the passengers who arrived from the American ship Queen to enlist in the army.

FUNDS TRANSFERRED.

The Russian Government has transferred forty million roubles, lately on deposit at the Bank of France, to London Banks.

GEN. FAILLY NOT DEAD, BUT IN GERMANY.

General Failly is not dead, as often reported. He and staff occupy finely furnished apartments at Mayence and are sumptuously provided for by the King.

PRUSSIA RELUCTANT ON THE PEACE QUESTION.

Prussia distinctly says she recognizes no French government, Imperial or Republican. She is reluctant to make peace at present.

FAVRE GONE TO PRUSSIAN HEADQUARTERS.

TOURS, September 19.—Though it is certain that Jules Favre has gone to Prussian Headquarters, no basis of negotiations has been arranged.

FLYING TO ENGLAND.

PARIS, September 19.—A fleet of steamers are removing merchandise from Havre and other French ports to England.

NO MEDIATION YET.

The Opinione Nationale asserts positively that no mediation has yet been proposed.

A FRENCH VILLAGE DESTROYED AND WHY.

LONDON, Sept 19.—The village of Bazeilles, near Sedan, was destroyed by the Prussians because some wounded fugitives from the German army were massacred in the streets of that place.

[Cable Special to N. Y. Times.]

THE PASSAGE OF THE MARNE DISPUTED—THE PRUSSIAN PLAN OF INVESTMENT.

LONDON, September 19.—A correspondent of the Times, writing from Paris 17th, says: Gen. Vinoy with 30,000 troops of the line, left last night for Vincennes to dispute the passage of the Marne. The advance of the enemy yesterday was not great. Their troops are massed near the Seine, ready to cross at any moment. The corps there is taking the course I indicated in a later letter. Crossing the Seine at Villeneuve and St. Georges they will pass in the vicinity of Lonjumeau to the rear of Versailles. Established there they will push forward by the wood of Menden to plant batteries on the heights of Clamart, and if the city is bombarded will open fire. From this point they can greatly damage the city as far as the Boulevards Denfer and Mont Parnasse. The Northern army is marching on St. Denis.

THE BLOCKADERS ALL GONE.

LONDON, September 19.—The Stralsund correspondent of the Shipping Gazette says that no blockaders have been seen in the Baltic for a week past.

BISMARCK ANXIOUS ABOUT THE UNITED STATES.

LONDON, September 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette to-day, in its correspondence from Rheims, September 12th, says: "Count Bismarck is anxious about the policy to be pursued by the United States Government, now that France has been declared Republic. It is said Prussia craves American sympathy, but cannot treat with the French Republic."

METZ AND TOUL.

Dispatches received to-day destroy all prospects of Bazaine's escape. A handful of men have only escaped thus far.

The siege of Toul is vigorously pressed. According to military experts, the place cannot hold out much longer.

HAS CERTAINLY GONE TO SEE KING WILLIAM.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Jules Favre has gone to the Prussian headquarters. Fears are entertained that he will not be received, but he requested of Bismarck safe conduct at least and was answered favorably. He set out immediately for Meaux, the headquarters of the King.

MINOR ITEMS.

When the news of the capture of Sedan reached Stockholm, the Royal Theatre was closed.

The officers of the Landwehr are offered commissions in the army.

The French captive officers are allowed the choice of German towns as residences. They receive the same rations and pay as at home.

Countess Cowley had a long interview with the Emperor on Saturday on behalf of the Empress.

The Post says balloons with 30,000 letters from Metz were captured at Neufchatel. In one of them Bazaine says his army is well supplied with everything. The French were victorious in every fight up to the 31st of August.

The Daily News correspondent says Bismarck insists on the evacuation of Metz and Strasburg, or else Paris is to be starved out. The Germans laugh at Bazaine's hopes of escape from Metz.

LONDON, September 9.—The Globe comments severely on the supineness of the Parisians in permitting the Prussians to repair roads and replace bridges in the line of their advance without interruption.

The London journals have no telegraphic news to-day from Paris.

Mail advices indicate that the besieged and besiegers at Metz suffer equally from disease and casualties.

FROM FRANCE.

ENGAGEMENTS BEFORE PARIS.

PARIS, September 18.—There was an engagement yesterday before Fort Ivry, between the Prussians and three regiments of the line, some battalions of the Garde Mobile, and a battery of artillery, under the commandant of Fort Ivry. At the last moment the Prussians appeared to have fallen back.

A SEVERE FIGHT.

PARIS, September 19.—A fight took place yesterday ten miles from Paris, between the advance guard of the Prussian army, and a reconnoitering party of the French forces. The latter were driven back, and the Prussians established themselves on the heights which the French troops had been holding.

The Prussians numbered 40,000, and the fight is said to have been a very bloody one, and the French, although beaten, inflicted heavy loss on the Prussians. The contest raged for upwards of two hours.

DIPLOMATIC CIRCULAR FROM JULES FAVRE—FRANCE PREFERS DISASTER TO DISHONOR.

The Journal Officiel to-day publishes a circular from Jules Favre, concerning France's representations abroad. He called attention to the significance of an earlier date being named for the Constituent Assembly, and says that the first duty of the Government is to defend the soil. It is objected that the Government is irregular, and without power. This is admitted, and for this reason is the Assembly convoked.

France has demanded the cessation of the war, but prefers disaster to dishonor. It is bad faith on the part of those who declare war to assert that they were forced to do so by a majority of the nation. The Assembly who applauded Gramont's warlike declaration some weeks before, also applauded Ollivier's peaceful utterance. The majority of the creatures of personal favoritism considered themselves bound to support even their most perilous contradictions. They refused an examination, and voted in blind confidence, hence the irremediable misfortune.

Europe is challenged to demonstrate that the nation, if conversant with affairs, would have declared war against Prussia. The Provisional Government does not deny the national responsibility of tolerating a Government which was destroying the nation. Such a Government is overthrown. It is a national obligation to repair the evil done. Nevertheless, if Prussia is determined to crush France, she will meet with a desperate resistance, and the world will understand that Prussia desires the destruction of a nation which is represented by an Assembly freely elected. The nation is armed and aroused, and is determined to defend its soil and independence.

The Minister of the Interior issued a circular to Prefects, and a decree for an immediate election of a Municipal Council.

The diplomatic circular issued by Jules Favre has met with the universal approval of the citizens, and the opinion is generally expressed that it is the ultimatum of the Provisional Government.

The Russian Ambassador left Paris to-day to return to St. Petersburg.

THE BALLOON FROM METZ.

The Prefect of Neufchatel telegraphed yesterday morning that a small balloon had been found the previous evening, which contained a package of soldiers' letters, dated September 16th, and addressed to soldiers' families. There was also a slip of paper, signed by Gen. Coffinier, commandant at Metz, in which it is stated that the troops in that city were in good condition, and their health excellent. The blockade established by the Prussians was admitted to be effective, and their only means of communication with the outside world was by balloons. This balloon was the second one they had sent out.

LETTERS FROM MARSHAL BAZAINE.

TOURS, September 18.—Letters have been received from Marshal Bazaine, at Metz, dated Friday. There had been no fighting since the 1st inst. The troops were enthusiastic and in good health. Provisions were abundant.

Twenty-five thousand armed volunteers will leave here to-day for the North.

Yesterday a courier from the English Cabinet reached Rouen, carrying important dispatches to Lord Lyons. Railways were cut and the courier was obliged to go forward on foot. There has been continuous fighting around Paris.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

Trains on the Northern Railroad from Rouen only run as far south as Breteuil at present. The Prussians are expected at the latter place.

On Saturday a fragment of the Sedan army arrived at Rouen, consisting of 600 men, who had previously escaped from Metz.

The loss of life in the hospitals of both armies from typhus fever is very serious.

[Special to N. Y. Herald.]

PRUSSIANS REPORTED AT VERSAILLES—SCOUTS KILLED BEFORE PARIS.

PARIS, September 19.—It is reported that four hundred Uhlans yesterday occupied Versailles.

Postal service has been suspended and service by messengers is to be organized. Several Prussian scouts were killed yesterday by Gardes Mobile and Franc Tireurs in the neighborhood of Paris.

MEETING OF THE "REDS."

The announcement was made that a Socialist meeting would be held at which Victor Hugo, Ledru Rollin, Louis Blanc and Pyatt would be present to protest against the moderation of the Government. I imagine the meeting was suppressed, as it has not taken place. The "Reds" are struggling hard for the ascendancy.

THE ASSAULT AT STRASBURG.

Writing from before Strasburg the Times correspondent says the preparations for the assault cannot be completed in less than four weeks.

10,000 WORKING PEOPLE ON THE POINT OF STARVING.

Writing from Rheims on the 8th he says upwards of thirty establishments here manufacture woolen cloths, employing 10,000 work people. All are idle and on the point of starvation. The full amount of misery cannot be realized yet.

[Special to N. Y. Sun.]

GRAND REVIEW IN PARIS—PEOPLE DISSATISFIED WITH THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT—BATTALION OF PARISIANS SURROUNDED BY PRUSSIANS.

PARIS, September 19.—Yesterday there was a grand review of the Garde Mobile and National Guard. More than 300,000 men were under arms. There was great enthusiasm among the troops, with the exception of some of the regiments of provincial Garde Mobile, who refused to cry "Vive la Republique" by order of their officers.

Three thousand Prussian uniforms were discovered this morning in three different houses.

The people of Paris are generally dissatisfied with the Government, which failed to adopt revolutionary measures.

A manifesto, voted by twenty arrondissements of Paris, was presented to-day to the Provisional Government, and will be posted to-morrow on the walls. The manifesto requires an immediate envoy of General Commissioners in the Provinces. Gen. Cluseret is designed by the people of Paris, at the request of the people of Lyons. It is doubtful if the Government will yield under that double pressure; the Government is afraid.

The Prussians surrounded, last night, a battalion of Parisians, Franc Tireurs, at Meaney Forest. Therefore, it cannot be set on fire.

A WEEKLY TAX.

A weekly tax is imposed upon residents, having houses or apartments here, who have left the city.

Many Prussian scouts have arrived near the walls.

All the departments are arming actively.

Nilsson's First Appearance at New York—Extraordinary Reception.

NEW YORK, September 19.—The first appearance of Nilsson, the renowned cantatrice, before an American audience, to-night, proved an event of most extraordinary interest. Long before the hour fixed for the concert, Fourteenth street, in the neighborhood of Steinway Hall, was lined with a crowd eager to catch a glimpse of the great vocalist. Every seat in the hall was occupied and hundreds had to content themselves with standing room. The concert opened with Rossini's "Messe Solonello." A trio was admirably rendered by Miss Annie Louise Cary, a contralto, with a rich but not remarkably strong voice, Signor Brignoli, who sang in a style that brought back memories of his best days, and Signor Verger, an excellent baritone, who to-night made his first appearance in America. Henry Vieuxtemps, the celebrated violinist, received a most enthusiastic reception. The entrance of Nilsson was the signal for a storm of applause. The stage in a few minutes became literally strewn with boquets. As the songstress bowed her acknowledgment of enthusiastic cheers the applause was again and again renewed. She first sang Handel's "Angels ever bright and fair." As the rich liquid tones of her voice arose the audience was electrified into the most rapt attention. At the end of each verse the applause was of the most enthusiastic character. When she had finished the air, the scene baffled description. Numberless boquets were thrown upon the stage. She acknowledged gracefully the enthusiastic tributes. As she moved from the stage, cries of "bravo!" "bravo!" mingled with deafening applause, followed her. Never probably did a songstress receive a more hearty reception. No sooner had her voice fallen upon the ear than it became evident that even the great anticipations of an expectant and somewhat critical audience had been realized. Nilsson's great European reputation was at once stamped with the approbation of an audience comprising the elite of New York society and its leading lights in the musical world. Nilsson next sang The Grand Scene, from Ambroise Thomas' Hamlet. Here she had an opportunity of evincing her powers as an actress as well as vocalist. Rarely has a fairer or more appropriate Ophelia been seen. Here, too, the audience had an opportunity of hearing that matchless range of voice which gave Nilsson pre-eminence on the European stage. A quartette from "Martha," sung by Nilsson, Miss Cary, Brignoli and Verger, was encored. The charming air, "Ah Fors e Lui," from La Traviata, was the last for Nilsson on the programme. At its conclusion the audience rose en masse and sent up cheer after cheer. As Nilsson was leaving the stage the enthusiasm was unbounded. In response Nilsson turned and sang a Swedish air. At the termination of the concert the crowd followed Nilsson to the Clarendon Hotel, cheering her enthusiastically.

Application for the Removal of Vanderbilt from His Railroad Presidency.

NEW YORK, September 19.—A formal application was filed to-day with the Attorney General of the State requesting him to begin proceedings for the suspension and removal of Commodore Vanderbilt from the Presidency of the Hudson River and New York Central Railroad Company. The application is based on the ground that Vanderbilt is injuring the stockholders of his road by making low rates of fare and freight in order to compel the Erie managers to withdraw their personal claims against him in the well known five million suit. At the recent meeting of the representatives of rival trunk lines westward Fisk and Gould offered to withdraw the suit upon satisfactory arrangements being perfected as to division of business, but Vanderbilt insisted on the withdrawal of the suit first. This Fiske and Gould refused. The meeting broke up without accomplishing anything and the present ruinous competitions seem likely to continue.

The Cincinnati Industrial Exposition.

CINCINNATI, September 19.—Preparations for the Industrial Exposition are proceeding actively. The last new building will be under cover to-morrow, and everything, so far as the committees are concerned, will be ready for the formal opening to occur on Wednesday evening, 21st inst. The entries were made actively to-day and the new applications for space were more numerous than for some time. Considerable machinery was in place to-day and other articles were being disposed, but the appearances now are that it will be several days before all the exhibitors will get in and be fully prepared to show their manufactures and other articles.

The Maine Election—Official Result.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19, 1870.

PRUSSIA AND THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

A dispatch from Minister Motley, dated London, Saturday evening, has been received by the State Department. Mr. Motley says the statement that Prussia had refused to treat except with the Regency, and intends to reinstate Napoleon as Emperor of France, is false. Prussia, he says, objects to recognizing the present government, not because of the proclamation of the Republic, but on the ground that it is unauthorized, unstable and incapable of giving lasting guarantees. The dispatch adds that a favorable reply was hoped for, but had not been received, to the proposition for the interview between Favre and Bismarck.

A Mail Party Killed by Indians.

LAS CRUCES, N. M., August 28, 1870.—Parties arriving from the west bring the melancholy intelligence of another horrid butchery of a small party, conductor Jack Collins, driver Wm. J. Burns, and two soldiers, going west, on the Messilla and Tucson road, on the 17th inst. The stage was first attacked at the "Water Holes," between San Pedro and the Cienega, when a running fight of three miles ensued, and when it was captured it was burned, together with about three hundred pounds of mail matter for Arizona and points beyond. It was there that the party was killed, and from every indication it is believed that Collins made a most desperate fight. He succeeded in surrounding himself with loose rock, and from the number of cartridge shells within his little fortification, it is evident that he, at least, emptied the chambers of his Henry rifle, and from his known coolness in time of danger, it is fair to suppose that he killed or wounded some of the howling devils that hedged him in; but they took a fearful revenge, scalping and gouging out his eyes, and it is believed, before life was extinct.

The last affair, coming so soon upon the heels of the slaughter of Charley Cooper and party, at the Cienega, and of the murder of the party on the San Pedro, has so thoroughly roused the community to a lively sense of the danger attending a trip over that road, that the people, with one accord, inquire of one another why it is that these frequent sackings, burnings, plunderings and scalpings are permitted. No one seems to blame the government, for it is the general belief that ample provisions have been made for the protection of the main road to Arizona. Some one is to blame. Who is it?

Compressed Water as a Lubricant.

Water, under a heavy degree of pressure, has lately been suggested as a means of reducing the friction of journals; and it is applied by providing a considerable portion of the lower half of the socket in which the journal runs, with grooves, communicating by an aperture in the middle with a tube, through which the water, under a heavy pressure, is introduced into the box beneath the journal. The effect of the hydraulic pressure is to elevate the axle, opening the passage for the escape of the compressed water, which, at the same time, because of its release from pressure, loses the power to sustain the weight. If, therefore, by the first impulse, the axle is thrown upwards to any sensible distance, it will immediately fall back again, once more confining, more or less completely, the water. After one or two oscillations the axle will settle itself in a position in which, while the water will escape, it will do so only as a film of unappreciable thickness. In this condition the journal turns upon a liquid bed, and the resistance in its revolution is so excessively small that a slow rotation given by hand to a wheel sustained by it, will be maintained for many minutes without perceptible retardation.

PRIVATE KRAUSE, the Prussian soldier who killed the first French soldier in the war, was himself killed at the battle of Saarbrucken.

THE grain crop of the eastern provinces of Germany has been a very superb one. The only difficulty is to find enough hands to harvest it.

A PICTURE in the Charicari represents a Zouave fallen upon a heap of Prussian corpses. "Hit at last!" he exclaims; "but I have made my bed."

THE house of Rothschild in Frankfort subscribed the sum of one million thalers to the Prussian war loan, and contributed five thousand florins for the wounded.

SEVENTEEN of the so-called hyenas of the battle-field, persons who have robbed the dead and wounded, were shot on the 12th of August at Ehrenbreitstein, in Prussia.

TODLEBEN thoroughly visited the fortifications of Paris at the close of the Crimean war. He expressed this opinion: "They could not stand a siege of forty-eight hours."

FOURTEEN hundred young men, who have been employed as clerks in the offices of the different departments of the government, took their departure from Paris for Tours.

THE Paris correspondent of the World says: "The French soldiers, while running from the enemy at Woerth, took each one a corpse on his back and so protected themselves against the bullets."

THE Besancon journal Le Jour advertised a reward of a million francs to the soldier who shall deliver King William alive or dead into the Emperor's hand, and 100,000 for any other German Prince.

THE French commander at Toul, to a demand to surrender, made a reply more heroic in fact than in form: "I will not surrender till my shirt tail is on fire."—"Quand le feu aura pris au pan de ma chemise!"

A YOUNG girl and a young man kneeling at the Catholic Church in Liedberg, Germany, were recently struck by lightning and killed. They were five paces apart, and persons kneeling between the two were not injured.

A SEVENTY year old monk in a convent of East Prussia, stabbed and killed recently, a fellow monk, who had already obtained the eightieth year. There had been a grudge between them for over forty years, and the murderer, after he had done the bloody act, exclaimed: "At length I am revenged!"

THE French prisoners in Prussian fortresses behave very well as a general thing, only the Turcos are most unruly, and refuse to do the work on the fortifications which they are required to do for five hours every day. But the strict Prussian discipline brings them to terms soon enough, whenever they are too obstreperous.

A GERMAN journal rather savagely says that the "first Napoleon was a lion—savage and bloodthirsty, but still a lion—while the jackal, in possession of the remnants of his repast, has believed himself his equal; the first Napoleon was a devouring flame, and the third of that name a flaring meteor, the product of unwholesome decomposition."

THE first French gun taken in the war was by a Seargent of the Prussian Fifth Rifles, of Gorlitz. The rewards he received consisted of 500 thalers offered by the Cologne Gazette, 20 thalers offered by the town of Carlsruhe, 60 thalers offered by a merchant of Breslau, and 100 thalers offered by a councilor of Posen, altogether about £100.

THE Danes are attempting to bring about an insurrection against Prussia in North Schleswig. Some of the Danish peasants of Alsen have shot on Prussian hussars, and a good many weapons were found concealed about the country. The Danish agitator and demagogue, Ohlman, caught in treasonable practices, has been arrested and sent to Konigsberg

MR. ROWLEY, manager of the London Crystal Palace, and Treasurer of the Sacred Harmonic Society, has met with his death by accident. He fell into the water from the deck of one of the river steamers, near Greenwich, and although he was quickly extricated and taken to shore, life was extinct, notwithstanding that all possible restoratives were applied.

SIX-TENTHS of the tenants of Paris paid no house rent in July. There is loud clamor for a stay-law giving everybody two years to pay July, October and January's rent. These people live from hand to mouth and never give a thought to the wet day, which alas! the future of almost every one of us contains. The Government will probably be obliged to pass such a law.

SINCE 1852 the Bois de Boulogne is computed to have cost the city of Paris 3,462,127 francs. The expenses have been far greater, but the municipality has been reimbursed by the great sums received for the sites of villas, and a considerable amount given by the State for the race course. The animals in the Jardin d'Acclimatation have been removed, during the present critical state of affairs, to Belgium and the Jardin des Plantes.

FROM the environs of Paris outside of the line of fortifications, the whole population are busy with a grand 1st of May, moving their effects into the city proper. All descriptions of vehicles are used, and a correspondent relates a case where a hearse was pressed into the service. So great has the press of vehicles become that the "Company of Funeral Pomps," or General Burial Company, are now busily engaged in the removal of the living in place of the dead.

THE North German Correspondent of August 31st says: On Saturday last 23 pieces of French cannon (16 4-pounders and 7 8-pounders) with four of the mitrailleuses captured at Worth, arrived at the Anhalt railway station in this city, and were placed the next morning in the Lustgarten, where they attract a good deal of attention, particularly the mitrailleuses. One of the French eagles taken at the same battle has been deposited in the Arsenal, opposite the Palace of the Crown Prince.

THE Wiesbaden journals are anxious that the German armies on their return from Paris should bring back some art treasures not restored in 1815, among them some porphyry pillars, which adorned the dome of Aix la Chapelle Cathedral. Thirty-two were carried off by Napoleon, and but twenty-four returned, the late King of Prussia replacing them with eight granite monoliths. The abstracted pillars at the present moment adorn the Salle de la Paix of the Louvre.

THE cavalry horses bred in East Prussia with a strain of Arab blood have proved far more enduring and serviceable than the bigger and heavier horses bought in Hanover, Schleswig Holstein, and Pomerania. Such unsparing use has been made of Uhlan and Hussar regiments in the outpost service that the bloom has been entirely taken from both men and horses. Sun, rain and dust have wrecked the new uniforms with which they commenced the campaign, but the spirit of these superb troops is unquenchable.

IN the hospitals at Dusseldorf wounded Turcos have been caught in an attempt to poison the Prussian wounded by scraping the phosphorus from matches into the drinks of the wounded. Long daggers were found concealed on their persons, and it is believed that they have committed a number of murders by thrusting them into the open wounds of the Germans during the night. All the Turcos were immediately searched, and those found with concealed weapons in their possession were ordered to be shot at once.

THE French residents of Hamburg have published in the Borsenhalle a protest, in the French language, against the reckless assertions of the Parisian press that Frenchmen have been exposed to all sorts of ill treatment in Hamburg. At the same time they call on their countrymen not to molest industrious Germans who have entered France trusting to the honor of the French nation, but to treat them with the same consideration and urbanity which have been shown to the French population of Hamburg by both the authorities and the people.

A PRIVATE LETTER from a well-informed source in Paris states that the Duc de Gramont passes his evenings at the Jockey Club of the French metropolis. On being asked, a few evenings ago, how he could so rashly involve the country in this fatal conflict, the Duke replied that he had asked the former Minister of War if he was ready, and that the latter had replied: "I am more than ready (je suis archi-prêt)." "Only for this," added Gramont, "I should have taken care not to recommend a contest which might have been avoided in twenty different ways."

AMONG the MSS. of the Strasburgh library, were the MS. of Herrade, of Landsberg, Abbess of St. Odile, entitled Hortus Deliciarum, dated the 12th century, and whose minatures furnished the most valuable information to the history of art and costumes; a collection of prayers of the 8th and 9th century, on vellum, in gold and silver characters; a Missal with the arms of Louis XII.; the collection of the constitutions of Strasburg, and the mediæval poem of the Siege of Troy in sixty thousand lines by Conrad, of Wurzberg. All these treasures are now but ashes.

THE Lancet says: We regret to have to announce that cholera is extending in Southeastern Russia, and that it has appeared in Rostow, on the Don, at Kertch, and Odessa. The Journal de St. Petersburg of the 14th inst. announces 28 cases and 10 deaths from the epidemic at Rostow, and 9 cases and four deaths at Kertch. The appearance of the disease is alone announced at Odessa in a communication dated the 4th inst. The latest news from Taganrog states that from the 27th of June to the 18th of July 118 cases of that malady occurred in that town, 75 of which ended fatally.

A CORRESPONDENT describing the battle of the 15th of August, in front of Metz, says: There were critical moments during the fight. One about seven o'clock, when on the left centre, where the first and second divisions united nearly all the officers were struck down. The division Gen. Von Bentheim seized the moment. He saw one of his men in the heat of the fight coolly smoking a cigar. It impressed the General. Hurrying up to the soldier, he called out "Give me a light," lit a cigar, and gathering up his shaken battalions, cigar in mouth and sword in hand he again led on his decimated forces.

PRINCE PIERRE BONAPARTE, according to the Daily News, has been loyally working for the dynasty in Corsica. He has recruited there an army of six hundred Corsican spies, who gradually, in small parties, have all arrived at Marseilles. Their mission is to spread themselves about the country, and inculcate the idea that the Emperor, who has been deceived and betrayed by Emile Ollivier and certain generals, will yet be the saviour of France, and that as a proof of his single minded honesty, he is quite ready, in pursuance of his invariable principles, to submit his case to another plebiscite.

OUR Frankfort correspondent speaks of the kind of weather in which the fighting has been done: "The German march was for the soldiers difficult, the soil being clayey and wet, and the weather very rainy, as it has been for the last three weeks. This, on the one hand, was an advantage; for while on the first of August the whole country from the Rhine to the Moselle was one parched, yellow mass, the heavy rains have now caused vegetation to spring up and thus the horses of the army are well fed. Were this not the case, they would find but scant supplies in the deserted villages and farms of Lorraine."

THE Lorraine peasant loves to narrate the story of the "Woman of Stenay," who offered a barrel of wine to a detachment of Austrians, saying: "You are thirsty, friends; drink; you are welcome to all my store," drinking, as she spoke, a supful in their honor. The soldiers accepted with pleasure, and in a few minutes four hundred men were writhing on the ground in agony. Then the "Woman of Stenay" rose, and, with her dying gasp, shrieked out, "You are all poisoned! Vive la France!" fell back a corpse. This is the legend of Lorraine, and the memory of its heroine is revered by the peasantry as highly as that of Charlotte Corday.

WHAT raises German indignation more than all is the employment of the Turcos. Now that they see those savages near, they can appreciate the agents the Emperor placed in the van of his crusade for cosmopolitan civilization. To say nothing of their filthy habits, these wild beasts bite at the very fingers which tend them, and have actually attempted to outrage the Sisters of Charity in attendance, for which ten were shot offhand the other day at Berlin. "Conceive," the Germans say, "these men masters of our towns, with our wives and daughters at their mercy," and they are the more embittered against the French and the Empire.

THE manufacturers of Germany and Belgium, though regretting the severity of the French Government against the German residents, are not ill-pleased with it in an industrial point of view. The German workmen were always considered among the best in France, and, owing to their aptitude and diligence, they were mostly employed in those branches of manufacture in which the French have maintained a certain superiority. They are received in Germany with open arms, not only as workmen, but as industrial teachers. Their cruel expulsion may prove as great a commercial as it is a political blunder. It is, in fact, a nineteenth century edition of the Edict of Nantes.

THE volunteer force in Great Britain is about to be placed in a higher condition of efficiency. By regulations just issued from the English War Office, schools of instruction for officers are established for artillery at Woolwich; for engineers at Chatham; and for infantry at Aldershot, Glasgow and London. An allowance of five shillings a day for not over a month is to be paid to officers under instruction, and a premium of two pounds ten shillings is to be paid in addition to every combatant officer and sergeant who obtains a certificate of proficiency. Snider rifles are to be issued to the volunteers, under special regulations, to secure their being kept in good condition and in safe custody.

A SINGULAR instance of presence of mind is reported from Swinemuende in Prussia. At the arsenal at that place, a workman had to give a coating to grenades by dipping them rapidly into a kettle of boiling pitch. Suddenly one of them slips from his hands into the kettle. Quick as lightning the foreman plunges his bare arm into the kettle and succeeds in saving the grenade before it has time to explode. The pain he suffered from his burns robs him of consciousness, but he has saved his life and that of a great many laborers by this heroic act, for thousands of pounds of powder lay within the immediate vicinity, and a moment's hesitation would have brought about the explosion of the grenade and inevitable ruin to all persons near by.

A CORRESPONDENT who visited the hospital for wounded at Darmstadt, which is under the special charge of Princess Alice, writes: Certainly nothing can be more admirably managed: and of those I have seen as yet it is the brightest, airiest and most cheerful. The principal building is a permanent one of stone and glass—an ex-conservatory. It stands in charming gardens, with their flower beds, and shrubberies, and fountains, which, as the Princess says, the Frenchmen gallantly tell her remind them of the waterworks of Versailles. Through these are scattered, a number succursals—wooden pavilions where the double rows of beds stand at ample intervals, with canvass doors at the ends, to be looped up at will, and with openings in the roof, protected from the wet, but open to the wind. The Princess says the French strongly protest against the fresh air, while the Germans, on the contrary, very sensibly welcome it as the best of specifics.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Tribune closes a recent letter with a story which shows that the thieves have, with their usual ingenuity, begun to turn to their own advantage the Prussian Uhlan panic. A company of these ubiquitous marauders entered a border town and demanded the Mayor. On his appearance they told him they were sent to order the immediate payment of 50,000 francs, for which they would give him a receipt. If the money was not forthcoming, they had a sufficient force near by to pillage and burn the town. The Mayor assured them that the sum they demanded was out of all reason; that all the money in the place did not amount to so much. The Uhlans then declared that they would not stir for less than 5,000 francs. The sum was raised with difficulty, a receipt in due form was given, and the French thieves who had robbed Uhlans, slain in a recent skirmish, of their uniforms, galloped off with their booty.

THE Melbourne journals are commenting with great praise upon the enterprise displayed by the proprietors of the line of steamers running between San Francisco and Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, and between Honolulu and Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. Steamers are to leave San Francisco and Sydney every twenty-eight days, so as to connect and leave Honolulu every fourth Saturday, and make thirteen trips yearly. Arrangements, commencing August 20th, have been made whereby first-class passengers can be transported by this route from Sydney to Liverpool, England, in forty-six days, for $377, while the fair by the Peninsular and Oriental route is $625, and the average time consumed is fifty-two days. To carry out the above plan according to the programme it is stated that fast and commodious steamers will be required, but that at all events a bi-monthly mail will be carried from Australia to England, one line of steamers running east and the other west.

HERE is a neat revival of an old hoax: Miss Quitoe, a young lady, beautiful and accomplished, was found murdered in her bed at a hotel in Hannibal, Mo., on last Thursday morning. She had come to that place from the South about a month before with a number of relatives, and the party took rooms at the National Hotel. Nothing transpired to attract particular attention until the morning of the murder, about five o'clock, when a noise was heard in the vicinity of the room occupied by Miss Quitoe by the night clerk, who was passing through the halls, as was his custom during the night and early part of the morning. He immediately followed the sound, and was thereby led to her door. As he neared the door he heard a terrific blow, and at the same time a man's voice saying, "There, d——n you, you have lived long enough." He raised the alarm, the door was burst open and the young lady found weltering in a pool of blood upon her bed. The murderer escaped and there is no clue to lead to his arrest.

THE following anecdote of Gen. Trochu may be read with interest, at a time when he is called upon to play an important part in public affairs, as it shows that he is not less distinguished for his private virtues than for his talents and courage as a soldier. Upon the death of his father, some years ago, he became entitled, under the French law of succession, to a moiety of the small patrimonial estate in Brittany, which was to be divided between himself and his brother. this brother had eleven children The General has none. He simply remarked that his brother needed the property more than he did, and relinquished his share of it. Not long afterwards his brother likewise died. Upon this occurrence the General observed that, having no family of his own, he was better able to provide for that which Providence had bestowed upon him. He adopted his eleven nephews and nieces, laid down his carriage, reduced his own domestic expenditure, and assumed with cheerfulness the duty of providing for the whole of his late brother's family and household.

THE young officers at Nusserabad, India, have found out an amusement quite as exciting as pigeon shooting, which in some features it greatly resembles. At a place called the Pokur Pass, about three miles from Ajmere, is a small village, the inhabitants of which were so troubled with leopards that they constructed some stone buildings resembling mouse traps and baited them with live goats. They succeeded by this plan in catching two fine leopards, and a party consisting of Captain Murray, Dr. Royle and Lieutenant Montgomery went out to dispatch the captured animals. The first leopard, on being let loose, went gaily away for about seventy yards, when a bullet through both shoulders effectually stopped him. The second came out with a roar, and in two bounds was on the party. Captain Murray was struck in the shoulder, and his right hand torn open. The beast then fortunately for all present, charged right on to a spear, (held straight by a plucky native), which went in at the chest and came out near the tail. Notwithstanding that he was thus inconveniently transfixed, the leopard managed to get away about forty yards, biting furiously at the spear, and was then finished off with the guns

ONE of the most pleasing things about the fish supply of St. Petersburg is that you are always sure of getting your fish fresh; they are brought to the city alive in welled fishing boats; at the fishmongers' doors may be seen two or three large tubs, in which the fish to be bought are languidly moving about, and at the restaurant establishments humanity and gastronomy unite to prolong their lives to the latest possible moment. In the entrance hall or ante-room there is usually a large aquarium, in which the fish swim about until they are wanted. The sterlet or small sturgeon is the fish par excellence of the entertainments of the rich at St. Petersburg, and is rightly esteemed a great delicacy. It is about the size of a middle-sized pike, is a mud fish like the eel, and tastes something like it, but is more delicate in flavor, and not so oily. The consistency of the flesh is like that of the thin parts of the belly of the salmon, but white. It has no bones, or rather the bones are gelatinous, like those of other cartilaginous fishes. Sterlets may be bought in St. Petersburg in large numbers; and at the banquet given to the Horticultural Congress, where between two and three hundred people sat down to dinner, an entire sterlet made its appearance on every man's plate.

THE enthusiasm in Germany when the news of the victory at Rezonville arrived was unparalleled in the history of the present war. "People were actually wild with joy. In Frankfort the police president first read the official telegram upon the Bourse amid the wildest excitement of the money changers. As soon as he appeared in the streets a crowd of nearly ten thousand people surrounded him, and for the space of half an hour he had to reread the telegrams continually. When the telegram arrived, among a number of bathing guests at one of the most noted swimming institutes in the Spree, one steady-going citizen became so excited by the news that he at once rushed out of the enclosure, hailed a passing steamer just then about to land its passengers, and read them the kings telegram amid immense applause. But the bather, a well-known Berliner, and a man of science in the bargain, had entirely forgotten that he was only in bathing costume, and thus called out the indignation of one of the passengers with a number of grown-up daughters. The result was that the indiscreet patriot was summoned before a justice, who, nevertheless, had the good sense to see that here was only a case of—temporary insanity of enthusiasm."

THE Post says Thomas M. Marshall will not vote for General Negley. For a very good reason—he does not live in Gen. Negley's district.

THE Commercial says Walton's election is ASSURED. By whom? Have the Democratic leaders become his underwriters? And how much of the $10,000 did it take to pay the premium?

WOULD Mr. Walton like to have the "Book of Chronicles" on government contracts for coal, published? There are several men still living hereabouts who are ready to write such a volume.

WHY did not Mr. Walton inform his Birmingham audience how he honestly made $700,000 in two years by furnishing the government with coal during our late unhappy war? Will we read from the Book of Chronicles the answer?

WALTON is announced, we see, for a meeting in Temperanceville, this week. It is but fair we should tell him, in advance, there will be men there to ask him some ugly questions. A written speech, or one committed to memory, will not do for answers.

MR. WALTON saw fit in his late maiden speech to charge his neighbors in the Fifth ward, Allegheny, with trifling with the ballot box. This is certainly grateful to such men as Mr. John Heath, who stood by Mr. Walton when he needed friends just as badly as he does to-day.

FREW thinks he is running for Congress, and some of the other candidates nominated July 6, think they are running also for the places for which they were nominated. They are mistaken. There is only one man running on that ticket, and that is Walton. All the rest are easily thrust aside to make way for him, and everything else will be sacrificed to save him.

MR. WALTON, in his maiden speech in Birmingham, said: "She (the GAZETTE) is an old hound." True, every word of it. We belong to that kind of animals, and when we get on the "warm" trail of an old fox, we stay with him till we tree him. We are on Joseph's trail, and we have no doubt that he will never again get into the legislative coop, among the fat "roosters," in which he delighted last winter.

WALTON cited, as a proof of the necessity of Reform in our party, that he had known, in his own ward, a primary meeting to be held in a back room at a school house, to which access was obtained only by a back window. We are assured by active Republicans of that ward that the only meeting ever so held, there, was the one which elected delegates to the Reform Convention of July 6th. Walton ought to know—he was probably there.

WHO is the man on the Democrat ticket for Assembly who is to withdraw and let Walton be put on? There is, we are assured, such a scheme on hand. Democratic tickets will be printed with Walton's name on, and Democrats will be found (that's the way the money goes) to stand at the polls on election day and give them out as genuine Democratic tickets. Let the Democrats who believe in their principles keep an eye on the tricksters.

CARNAHAN denied, at the Birmingham meeting, that he offered a Johnson resolution to the Republican State Convention of 1866. The records of the Convention belie him. They show that he did offer it, as an amendment to the report of the Committee on Resolutions, and that his amendment was hooted down. He will be denying, presently, that he ever was a Johnson man, at all, or that he bought his retention in office by promising half the proceeds of his office to a Democrat.

IN his maiden speech at the Birmingham Third Party meeting, Mr. Joseph Walton, on Saturday night, assured his audience that he had labored night and day to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary rules, in fact had worked harder at that job than at his previous job of log rolling. Now, we are sure Joseph has labored hard in political and job log rolling, and if we refer to the big contract of work in that direction he had when he attempted to lay violent hands on the sinking fund of the State Treasury, we can readily interpret how hard it was for him to master the intricacies of parliamentary laws.

CARNAHAN ranted with his usual vehemence, on Saturday night, about Cameron. The one great danger to American institutions is Cameron. No one is fit to be voted for who is or ever was a Cameron man. Yet it is not very long since Carnahan himself was a Cameron man. As long as Cameron was a Carnahan man he was all right. And how was it with Walton? He voted with the Cameron men in the State Convention of 1869, and was open, all last winter, in his support of Cameron and his friends. As the Reform ticket is now solely in Walton's interest, we advise Carnahan to look after Walton's orthodoxy on that point.

LAST YEAR there were 22,000 votes polled in this county. This year there will be more. If 22,000 are polled, no one can possibly be elected with less than 11,000 votes. Where is Walton to get them? He cannot get them from our party. Our intelligence is conclusive on this point. There are one hundred and ten election districts in this county, and he will have to average one hundred votes in each to bring him within the possibilities of an election. Can he get them? No one in his senses believes he can. We know of at least twenty districts in which he will not get over five votes each, and there are twenty others in each of which he will not get over ten votes. This would require him to poll over one hundred and fifty votes in each of the remaining seventy districts, and no sane man believes he can do that, unless he can get the Democratic vote. That is his only chance. If he sells out to the Democracy, he may have a chance. Has he done it?

THERE is a good deal of mediæval heroism in the reported words of General Trochu that he will "fight it out on the streets, houses and barricades of Paris," but it is entirely opposed to all modern ideas of civilization and propriety. If affairs ever come to such a pass that nothing is left to the French people but capitulation or such desperate resistance as this, the whole world would cry out for capitulation, for the alternative would signify nothing but the destruction of Paris and its priceless treasures and the perfectly useless shedding of human blood. It would be impossible not to admire the patriotism and resolution of the French people, but if it should come to be a mere purpose of destroying as much German life as possible without any hopes of ultimate success then it would be criminal in the highest degree not to purchase peace any price, and we cannot think that their leaders, if the fortunes of war should place them in so lamentable a position, would hesitate in making their decision, humiliating as it would necessarily be.

IT SEEMS that the Republicans of France are cooling in their war fever and engaged in more temperate and more philosophical reasoning on the situation. The only true and just course for them to pursue is to make ample reparation to Prussia for the cost and hardships precipitated upon her by the dethroned Emperor. Any other course on their part, a resolve to continue the war in the name of France and the French Republic, would exhibit a moral cowardice fatal to their best interests. At its inception the Liberalists opposed the war as unjust and unprovoked, and it would be developing a lamentable insincerity should they now adopt it as their own. What they ought to do is to maintain their original attitude and make peace on the best conditions they can get. Germany would yield much under such circumstances and ought to yield nothing. As the case stands, Germany has a fair right to indemnity for the expenses incurred and to safeguards for the future. That the representatives of the new Republic are commencing to realize that their true, conscientious and consistent policy is at once to make peace on the best terms that Germany may afford, is shadowed in the announcement that M. Favre states that he is ready to offer ample amends to the country damaged by the war of Napoleon and the Empire. When such a feeling of justice pervades France, peace cannot be far distant.

WE referred, on Saturday, to the coalition between the Commercial and Post, and the evident fact that the "Reform" ticket is run in the interests of the Democracy. We have now other corroborative facts to cite.

Last winter, Irwin was elected State Treasurer by a coalition with the Democrats. Dr. Shurlock, of Beaver, refused to go into this coalition. He has been renominated and is the regular candidate of the Republicans of Washington and Beaver, yet Mr. Irwin and his paper, the Beaver Argus, are trying to defeat him and elect a Democrat in his place.

The coalition between Irwin and Coffeepot Wallace, the leader of the Democracy of this State, thus continues in full force. Each is playing into the other's hand.

In Lancaster, the candidates for the Legislature were compelled, before going to the people to be voted for, to pledge themselves, if elected, to go into the regular Republican Legislative Caucus and abide by its decision. This is supposed to be fatal to Irwin, and therefore we find a coalition gotten up in that county between the Irwin soreheads and the Democracy, by the terms of which a coalition ticket is to be nominated, consisting of a Democrat for Congress and one Democrat and three Irwin soreheads for Assembly.

In this county, we find Irwin's right hand man, Dravo, making speeches for the "Reform" ticket, which, he admits, has not the slightest chance of success. Nominally, Dravo fights only for Walton, and pretends to think that he, and he only, has a prospect of success, but as everybody knows that the sole effect of giving Republican votes to Walton is to increase the chances of some one on the Democratic ticket, we can only regard this mission of Dravo's as a part of the contract between Irwin and Wallace.

THE SITUATION.

The Republicans of Allegheny county, may, we think beyond question, assure themselves of an emphatic and positive triumph of their principles at the coming election.

The only difficulty that can in any way arise, is through the coalition of the Third Party with the Democratic Party. Neither the one nor the other, has, by itself, sufficient strength to defeat the Republican ticket. We do not believe that any such union will or can be effected. We are satisfied that the effort has been made, and indeed is still being made towards this end, but we have that firm and abiding trust in the people, that discards any idea that it will go further than perhaps a few discontented and vindictive men. A party that has preserved itself amid the ordeal Republicanism has passed through, cannot be at this day endangered by any local faction, that seeks to sell it to its enemies.

The community has waited patiently waited, for the information, the knowledge of which gave these men the right to attempt to disrupt the party. Thinking men are never hasty and sudden in their actions, but abide the results of investigations. They are not led away by clamor, but are convinced by argument. It was therefore natural that our citizens who deeply and honestly respected our principles should inquire into the soundness of the Third party movement. To do less, would have been to betray the prejudice of partizanship and to do more, would have disclosed the weakness of their own principles. That information they naturally looked for and expected to gain from the arguments during the campaign of the Third Party. They have been disappointed. More than this, that disappointment has a decided tendency to disgust.

When the Third Party field is viewed over, they fail to find a single man who appears prominent as a Reformer, on whose political virtue they have any reason to rely. We do not write now of the want of mouth adulation. Of that there is plenty. They are all sufficiently praised by their speakers. But amid all the flattery there is not one argument that ever yet has taken hold, or will take hold, of the heart of a stranger to them all, as an argument based on sound and pure principle. It is discovered that every reform they demand, has been faithfully pledged to be performed by the regular nominees. It is patent to the people, that what these calling themselves reformers assure the public they will do if elected, has been equally assured by the Regular ticket. And the conclusion to the mind of every unprejudiced man, is, that this Reform movement means more than the mere effort to ensure the success of a principle.

From the opening of their campaign, they have adopted that policy of weakness, that logically, has ever been condemned as unsound and full of sophistry. We mean the policy of traducing the Republican ticket to gain votes, without in any instance giving to the community the political record of any nominee on their ticket, to prove it better than ours. They have indulged in an immense amount of verbiage, but never arrayed man against man as they would have done had it been to their advantage.

The idea of Reform, therefore, has not taken hold of the hearts of the people, simply because every effort that has been made plainly indicates the want of some principle, advocated by them, which is not advocated by the Republicans. There is no danger of any serious disaffection in the Republican ranks under such circumstances. There is always more or less discontent in great parties. There are always discordant elements amid great masses of the people. The Third Party will undoubtedly have followers from among this class. It will also have followers that are personal friends of the Third Party nominees. But it will have few, if any, who are there solely for the purpose of securing some principle which they could not have had in the regular organization.

There are also personal enmities existing between some individuals and some of the nominees on the Republican ticket. These, if their vindictiveness carries them far enough, will vote either the Third Party ticket or the Democratic ticket, as they may determine. But outside of the factionists—men who are drawn to the Third Party through personal motives, either of friendship for the nominees, or vindictiveness against the Republican organization—there is really no Third Party to-day. The men of this county who desire the success of Republican principles above the gratification of a personal satisfaction, will vote the Regular Republican Ticket.

Their leaders have not the confidence of the people. While the Republican Party can point all over the Union to the best and brightest men of the day, who are working to preserve our party—men whose political records are a part of history and the pride of a nation—the political record of these men who have stepped in, resolute in the determination to destroy our unity, is either totally unknown, or, if known, it is to their disadvantage.

But the danger, as we before asserted, arises from a coalition. From a united attack on one or two men, against one or two agreed upon by our opponents. We frankly believe there is no other danger before us. We believe this danger does exist. We therefore urge on all Republicans to guard against any effort of this nature. To turn out in their strength as a unit for the ticket, and in this way defy even a solid union of the Third Party and the Democracy. The warning we give our readers is not an idle one. We give it honestly and frankly, and if heed be taken of it, have not the slightest doubt of an overwhelming victory for the full Republican ticket.

THE BOOK OF CHRONICLES.

Under this head Mr. Joseph Walton in his "Maiden Speech" in Birmingham on Saturday evening attempts to show how the Gazette is kept alive and how the "Ring" does it, in the way of giving it State advertisements. We quote from Mr. Walton's speech as dressed up by the Commercial:

Now I want to read you a little from the Book of Chronicles to show why the Gazette raises that cry. On page 151 of the report of the Auditor General of the State for 1868, you will find the Gazette gets $193.80 for advertising. On the same page and for the same thing the Commercial gets $6. On page 154 (I suppose there is a Gazette reporter here, and if so, I will give him $50, if he will print all I have said this evening,) the Gazette gets for a small advertisement $135 and the Commercial $40. On page 153 the Gazette gets $95 for a little advertisement. Is it any wonder the old hound begins to growl when these bones are about to be taken away from her by the people?

Truly wonderful,—To think the GAZETTE still survives this expose! Just think of it, in two years, 1868 and 1869, we get in the way of State patronage the enormous sum of $423,80, or $211,90 a year. We thank Mr. Walton for informing the citizens of Allegheny county just what our party patronage is, to a cent. We know some persons have the idea that a Party newspaper is supported by its Party. We ask our friends to look at these figures. We are always pleased to receive advertising orders from State officials, as we have no trouble in collecting our bills. They know just what we charge per square, how many lines make a square, and can tell exactly before they send their order, how much it will cost the State. If these officials think the GAZETTE will better subserve the interest of the State, and order their advertisements to be inserted in it, whose business is it? We think they have that right without asking Mr. Walton. We don't know whether the Commercial did the same advertising for $6,00 that we charged $193,80 for or not, nor do we care. From what we know of General Hartranft, the Auditor General, we are inclined to believe he would have detected the decrepancy in the bills, and known the reason for the difference.

Why didn't Mr. Walton tell his hearers the Commercial was paid, and justly, too, for publishing the State Treasurer's report in July, while the GAZETTE got nothing? That would not have served his purpose of misrepresentation. Business managers of newspapers don't often do $193 80 worth of advertising for $6, especially when the larger amount is but rates. We do know of one exception, and that of a cotemporary, advertising for a Sewing Machine Company ninety-five dollars' worth for five dollars, but Sewing Machine Companies often do little favors in return. We will make the assertion, and can prove it, that Mr. Walton paid to the city press within the last year more for printing speeches, written by other gentlemen with his name attached, than the entire city press, GAZETTE included, got from the State for advertising. We hope Mr. Walton will allow us time to recruit under his wonderful expose before he gives us another round from his mitrailleuse.

ALWAYS REPUBLICAN—STILL REPUBLICAN.

Messrs. Carnahan, Frew, Walton and other immaculate conceptions, who have figured on the stump of the party of saints and reformers (?) are very loud and emphatic in proclaiming that they always have been and still remain Republicans, although they are continually firing off their pop-guns at the walls of the great party, whose history and achievements they say are so glorious. What kind of adherent to the French cause would Bazaine be thought to be if he turned his guns on the fortress at Metz? What sort of Republicans can they be, who do their bitter best to disintegrate and despoil a party which they concede to have rescued the country from the direst of all calamities? Surely no thoughtful, right minded Republican can be deluded to trust to such men for reforming the party. Jeff Davis tried to reform the government by destroying it. Will any true Republican try a like expedient to reform his party?

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Sunday Leader, an independent journal of very decided reform and anti-Republican proclivities, has the following to say of the so-called Court House job, about which the Commercial has fumed and fretted so much during the past month. One by one the clap-trap arguments of the "reformers" falls to the ground, for not a single specific charge they have made has been sustained:

IS IT A JOB?

The Reformers and the Indexing of the Records—A Great Deal of Cry and Little Wool—The Entire Cost of the Work Will not Exceed $5,000—The Booty all Mystical—Facts and Figures on the Subject.

For some time past a lively controversy has been carried on between the organs of the respective branches of the Republican party relative to the recent award of contracts for the indexing of the records, and public curiosity has been aroused on the subject to a high pitch. The heavy artillery of the Commercial was leveled in the direction of the Court House early in the campaign, and, ever since, periodically, it has been pouring its broadsides into the ungodly combination, which the ardent imagination of Retrenchment and Reform presumes to have a local habitation in that neighborhood. It speaks of the indexing of the records alone, as if it were a matter fraught with greenbacks to everybody connected with it and a source of large profits to the men who have been fortunate enough to secure the job—claiming, furthermore, that it was given out corruptly, and not to the lowest and best bidder, as it should have been. The Gazette, by the "rule of contraries" governing the tone of the rival organs, at once assumed the opposite position, but some of its loudest batteries instead of silencing its large neighbor with facts, rather, in reality, make indirect admissions that there is some truth in the charge. A thick mist of battle so generally envelopes the assaults and repulses of our contemporaties that the public don't have a shadow of a chance to observe the situation. Aware of this the Leader to-day presents accompanied by facts and figures, gained from official and reliable sources.

It seems to be the popular idea that the indexing of the records means merely a transcribing from one book into another, with, afterwards, some slight labor in arranging alphabetically the names of the people interested. This is a great mistake—the task being a far more tedious and laborious one. These indexes, without which the hundreds who daily search for titles in the recorder's office could never get along, are to be compiled afresh from the records—and not from the previous indexes. Those herotofore existing have been very imperfect, a circumstance arising from the fact that different recorders kept them on different plans, and as the examination of titles is a branch of their business in which lawyers incur great responsibility, they have long been clamoring for the set which is now in course of compilation. Inasmuch as the old set contains so many errors and omissions it has been deemed wise to disregard it entirely and post into the new books direct from the instruments themselves.

Mr. Ed Williams, who was awarded the contract for about two-thirds of the work, on it, and calculates that it will take them about two years to complete it. Where the time is chiefly consumed and the labor expended is not in the mere writing, but first in the analysis of the deed, which is necessary to arrive at its exact character and the name of all the parties interested, and subsequently in comparing the entries when made with the documents from which they are taken. Thus, one of the clerks takes up a deed book and passing through the instruments in their regular order of succession extracts the names of the grantee and grantor in each instance, conveying them in a plain hand in which every letter is legible. This necessitates a virtual reading of the book from one cover to another; next the names when written are to be carefully compared with those in the deeds to avoid error. There being about one hundred thousand names the task of classifying them alphabetically becomes so tedious and complicated that an immediate process has to be resorted to, calling for a second writing of the names, when they are ready to be classified according to the alphabet, each letter having twenty-six subdivisions. These names will, or are expected to fill some seven "direct" books, and of course as many of the ad sectum class, making

HAS FIVE CLERKS EMPLOYED

FOURTEEN VOLUMES IN ALL.

Should any omission or error be made, through which loss may be entailed upon parties dealing in real estate, the parties suffering will have the privilege of proceeding against the contractor, who has been required to file a bond equal to the recorder, guaranteeing a proper and correct performance of his duties.

We may now proceed to a financial view of the indexing. The contract price is $2.34 per page, which, by a close calculation, will amount to something over $12,000. Add to this say $3,000 on account of records that may accumulate between the present date and the completion of the work, and we have which, the Commercial contends, is going to raise the "Court House Ring" to opulence. Now the clerks employed are obliged to be first class penmen; at least $1,000 a year is not likely to be regarded as overwhelming remuneration for their services. Thus the clerical force will cost the contractor in the neighborhood of $10,000, leaving, at the former estimate, $5,000 for his own labor in the two years—the entire task requiring his constant supervision.

But the argument upon which the charge of

is mainly based is that they did not award it to the lowest bidder. The commissioners, in reply to this, state that of the low bidders some could not have afforded to perform the work, and others were not capable. They hold that they were justified in giving it to the best bidder, inasmuch as, by the act appointing them, their decision was unrestrained and unlimited. They claim that they were privileged to exercise the same prudence in the matter that they would in their own private affairs, and their first object being to have the work performed in a thoroughly reliable and proper manner, it was this that influenced them in rejecting the low proposals.

The sweeping charges of the Commercial, then, in this connection, are simply absurd. When it discovers a "job," or a corruption of any kind, the Leader will be the first to assist in exposing it; but, in a spirit of fraternal kindness, we would advise it not to continue its wild extravagance on a matter which it surely can never have investigated, and of whose merits it evidently knows nothing, save from hearsay. Not only that; but so obstinate has been the "largest" in carrying on the investment of the "Court House" that when its reporters were on one or two occasions invited by the contractors to investigate the subject they declined. It is now, however, about time to raise the siege. By raising the cry of "wolf" when that animal does not happen to be around, a newspaper is apt to injure its character for veracity, and when it does discover a real genuine "wolf," ten chances to one the public won't believe it.

THE following is from last evening's Mail, an independent journal in politics. It will give our readers some idea how those gentlemen who harp on "Rings" so much are viewed from an unprejudiced stand-point:

We note the fact that Major Wm. Frew, in his speech in Allegheny, emphasized the expression that he "despised the very name of rings and cliques." We wonder if this is owing to the fact that his connection with the aforesaid rings has so often proved bitter and unsuccessful. We now hear from a reliable person of his association in a ring some twelve years ago, in 1858, when the crops hereabouts were much cut down by the early frosts. We are told that in that year of sadness and general trouble, whilst starvation was almost staring many a poor workingman's family in the face, he with others organized a "buckwheat ring," for the purpose of buying up all of the aforesaid article; and when having the control of all of the buckwheat in the market, the prices were at once put up fifty to seventy-five per cent. and with long faces the public were notified that owing to the scarcity of the article it had advanced in price, when as a matter of fact the ring knew that their warehouse fairly groaned with their loads of buckwheat piled up out of sight. The best of the story is yet to be told, and proves that the Major told the truth when he stated that he "despised rings."

The immense heaps of buckwheat stored away began to heat and ultimately soured, and of course proved almost a total loss to the ring, who had counted so largely on their venture. No wonder our valiant Major despises rings, when he has so often seen and felt the hand of a Just Providence smiting him for his pernicious connection with oil, flour and buckwheat rings.

DEATH OF HON. J. L. DAWSON.

We are pained to learn from dispatches received yesterday, that this widely known and eminent citizen died on Sunday at his estate, at New Geneva, in Fayette county. Mr. Dawson had represented the Fayette district in Congress for several terms, and although among the most prominent members on the Democratic side, distinguished among them for his able advocacy of the measures and policy of his party, he was greatly esteemed, and will be sincerely lamented by men of all parties. His loss to his family and a wide circle of attached friends will be irreparable.

ST. LOUIS MAGNETIC SPRING WATER.
This most wonderful Magnetic Spring is attracting from its novelty and peculiarities the attention of the World. During the summer of 1869, while the Company were boring for Salt, a vein of water was struck flowing with such force as to throw the stream several feet above the surface. It was found to carry a powerful current of Electricity or Magnetism, which marks it as one of the most wonderful of Nature's Curiosities. The Water has been proven to possess most remarkable curative properties, being particularly effective in cases of Rheumatism, Paralysis, Gravel, Kidney Complaints, Dysepsia and all nervous diseases. TRUST WHAT TIME HAS SANCTIONED.
The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of the divinity, may, in some cases, be open to doubt, but the testimony of honest and enlightened witnesses, extending through a series of years, and all to the same purport, is worthy of credence, admits of no question. Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the world innumerable preparations intended to compete with it, have gone up like rockets and come down the extinguished sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle's flight. Its introduction produced a revolution in therapeutics, and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To-day Hostetter's Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom, and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation, domestic or imported, on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia, bilious disorders, nervous affections, general debility, and as a preventive of epidemic fevers, it take precedence of every other remedy. This fact should teach the ambitious country dealers who endeavor to foist their local abortions on the public in its stead, how futile their small attempts to cajole the community must necessarily be. Where the game fish have failed there is no chance for the "suckers."

Keep Your Houses Clean, AND
BY USING THE
Wellman Patent Reflector Grate,
WHICH STANDS WITHOUT A RIVAL.
We claim for it the following advantages over any other in use:
1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity.
2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—very little soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.
3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.
4th. As an economiser of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.
5th. It is highly ornamental.
6th. It is not so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.
7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.
Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 2d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 60 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Forty-eight car loads, averaging nineteen head to the car, would make an aggregate of 912; add to this 125 head driven in from adjoining country, and we have in all 1,037; this, although below that of the past two weeks, is nevertheless a pretty good number of cattle for this market, in fact it is about 300 more than is generally required, though of these a large number were stockers which were taken by country buyers and consequently all the good butcher's stock was picked up at full prices, and there was scarcely enough of this kind to supply the demand. It is an undoubted fact, that buyers for the offerings have been larger for several months, yet prime cattle have been and continue scarce, and many of our best butchers, who are always willing to pay the top of the market, have difficulty in getting all they want. All the good cattle are frequently picked up early in the day, when at the same time it may require half a day to work off the balance even at very low figures, and the class of stock to which we have just adverted, has not dropped over a cent per pound, within the past six or eight months, notwithstanding it was expected early in the summer, that there would be a material decline soon after grass cattle were ready for market, about the first of July.

As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, prime to extra butchers stock brought [illegible]; Greenwald & Kahn report having sold about two car loads of fine Ohio [illegible], and J. & S. Needy, also, sold some very fine stock from Licking Co., Ohio, the best of which brought 8½; medium stock may be quoted at 7@7½; common to fair at [illegible] and stockers at [illegible].

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette, Monday, September 19, 1870.

The advices from Chicago and New York within the past day or two has infused a stronger feeling in the grain markets, and while as yet, the volume of business is light the demand is better, and it is reasonable to expect an improvement within the next few days to come. Flour, is also firmer, though not active, yet holders are not as anxious to realize as they have been recently. The grocery trade is improving, the country demand having loomed up considerably within the past week or two, and it begins to look as if the hopes so long indulged in of a good fall business would be fully realized. In Provisions there is nothing particularly new or important; there is a continued steady jobbing demand, and prices are pretty well sustained. There is a continued steady demand for butter, eggs and all kinds of fruits, and most of the commission houses appear to have about as much business as they can attend to.

APPLES—We can report a fair demand, but with continued liberal receipts, prices are barely maintained; we continue to quote at $2@3 per bbl. for common to prime.

ASHES—Common soda ash, 4; refined, 4½; Pearls, 9½; Pots 7½.

BROOM CORN—Is quiet and unchanged; in the absence of sales may be quoted at 6@7 cts per lb.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of prime cultivated at $14@15 per bbl.

CIDER—Sales prime sweet $7@8.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and without quotable change, 22½@23, for standard brands, in new barrels—in a jobbing way.

CORN MEAL—Is dull and unchanged, 90@95 per bushel.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $2@3½, and Calcined Plaster at $4½ per bbl.

CHEESE—Quiet and unchanged. Western Reserve, 11 to 12c; Ohio Factory 13½@14c; Ohio Goshen 14@15c.

DRIED FRUITS—Demand very light and stock almost exhausted.

EGGS—Scarce and higher with sales reported to-day, at 22@24.

FRUITS—Peaches continue to sell readily at $3@4 per bushel, and Plums at $4.50@5.50. Grapes in better demand and higher, with sales at 6@8 cts per lb.

FLOUR—Is firmer, but devoid of excitement, and prices as yet, are unchanged. We continue to quote (old wheat) Western flours at $6@7, for fair to choice brands. Rye flour $5.50@6.

GRAIN—There is an improved demand for Wheat and with limited receipts, the market is firmer and higher; we can report two cars of red at $1.26. Quotations may be given at $1.20@1.25 for red and $1.30@1.35 for white. Oats steady but unchanged; we can report two cars, one at 48 and the other at 48½, both delivered; we continue to quote at 44 to 45, buying, buyer furnishing sacks, and 48@50 selling. Ear corn is scarce and in steady demand with small sales at 90@95; shelled may be quoted at 85@88. Rye: none offering and but little inquiry for it; we continue to quote at 80@85. Barley is unchanged; very little prime offering; Spring is quoted at 90@1.15 for inferior to prime.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade is improving, as country merchants are taking hold pretty freely and the prospects are favorable for a good fall trade. Sugars are moving pretty freely though unchanged. Crushed, 14½; A Coffee, 13¾; B, do. 13½; Extra C, 13¼. Syrups have commenced to move again and will doubtless continue active during the fall and winter. New Orleans Molasses scarce and firm at 85@90.

HAY—Is being sold from country wagons at $12@18, for common to prime.

HONEY—Sales at 25@30 cts.

HUSKS—Sales at 2½@3 cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2.25 per bbl and eastern at $1.75.

LARD OIL—No. 1 extra is quoted at $1.18@1.20, and No. 2 at 85@87.

ONIONS—In firm demand but unchanged; sales at $2.50@2.75 per bbl.

POULTRY—Spring chickens are higher with sales at 55@60 cents per pair by the coop.

RAGS—Quoted at 4@4½.

TALLOW—Rendered 9¼@9½.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.60@1.65 by the car load, with the usual advance for small lots in store.

SEEDS—Timothy seed is less active, and as the demand is falling off the market is weak with a drooping tendency; small sales at $5.25@5.50. Clover seed is quiet and out of season. Flaxseed is still quoted at $2.15@2.20.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette, Monday, September 19, 1870.

The market for refined to-day was very quiet, probably indicative of the calm before the storm, as to-morrow is delivery day, the calls which were made on the 10th falling due then. There may be quite a change in the tone of the market, if there should happen to be many shorts. The charters continue large, thirty-seven thousand barrels having been taken up on Saturday last, indicating quite a brisk demand for refined through October. Crude was dull and weak all day and almost totally neglected, owing no doubt, in part to news of another big strike, viz: a five hundred barrel well, on West Hickory. The frequency of these large strikes of late has failed to attract much attention, or even call forth a remark of surprise. But there is surely something wonderful in the immense production at present, of oil. We remember a few years ago when we were getting about seven to eight thousand barrels per day, to have heard a prominent producer and dealer remark that there was no limit, in his opinion, to the production of oil, and that when the world required twenty thousand barrels per day, it would be forthcoming. At the time the remark caused no little merriment, but its truth has been almost verified, as the present production is surely over eighteen thousand barrels per day, not counting this latest strike with a very large number of wells yet unfinished.

RIVER NEWS.

River without material change, about 18 inches in the channel. Weather clear and pleasant.

No arrivals or departures excepting Monongahela river packets, and business at main landing is completely suspended.

Capt. Stockdale cannot launch his hull until there is a rise.

—On Monday of last week the Great Republic was taken upon the ways at Mound City, and no difficulty was experienced during the transit, although she is the largest steamer that ever lay upon them. The Great Republic is 330 feet long and her breadth over all is 100 feet. There are on the same ways at the time the steamer Post Boy, towboat Bee, tug Hewitt and a barge.

—The wreck of the Confederate gunboat, Tuscarora, is visible. She lays at Harbart's Landing, thirteen miles above Helena, where she blew up while on her way to Columbus during the winter of 1861. She was a handsome little craft, carrying three guns. She lays about thirty yards from the Mississippi shore, nearly in the up stream channel.

—The Juniata has taken the place of the Gen. Lytle in the Cincinnati and Louisville Mail Line. She will be in charge of the Lytle's crew.

—The Ravenswood and Gallipolis packet, Oriole, is at the bone yard, where she will undergo complete repairs. The Petrel No. 2 is in her place.

—Nearly all the large packet boats ply ing about Cincinnati have been compelled to lie up in consequence of the low water.

—The J. S. Dunham, the first boat built at Memphis since 1862, made a trial Wednesday, and gave perfect satisfaction.

—The new Red River steamer D. L. Tally, was to have made a trial trip at Cincinnati on Saturday afternoon.

—According to the latest reports there were only 3 feet on Eight Mile and 3½ at Guyan.

HOME NEWS.

Alderman Thomas' police are looking for H. M. Steele for threatening to kill his wife, Nancy.

Disorderly.—Con Donavan was fined five dollars and costs for disorderly conduct yesterday by the Mayor.

Mayor's Court.—There were sixteen unfortunates at the Mayor's Court yesterday. They were disposed of in the usual manner.

The attention of all the old members of the Hampton Battery is called to an advertisement that appears on the first page of to-day's paper.

Alderman McMasters yesterday committed to jail for trial Lawrence Long for threatening to kill James Dickson, and also avowing his determination to set fire to the Dickson mansion.

Michael Bauer was charged, before Alderman Thomas yesterday, with maintaining a nuisance on Bedford avenue, in the shape of a disorderly house, Leopold Kahn prosecutor. Warrant issued.

Ann McDonald yesterday made information before Mayor Callow, against Michael McNamara, for fornication and bastardy. Ann resides in Mansfield. The accused was arrested and locked up for a hearing.

Yesterday morning, before daybreak, a dwelling house on Crawford street near Reed was entered by thieves, who gained access through the cellar. They carried off a silver watch, some jewelry and several chickens. No clue.

The first white child born in Alaska who would have been eligible to the office of President of the United States, the son of our late fellow citizen, Captain G. K. Brady, U. S. A., died at Sitka last month, at the age of eight months.

Surety.—Charles Kramer visited the store of Fred. Deavis, in Baldwin township, yesterday and threatened to kill Mr. Deavis with an axe. Information was made before Justice Heisel and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Kramer.

A New Officer.—W. J. Miller, who was recently appointed police officer in the Borough of East Birmingham, entered upon the discharge of his duties on Saturday. Mr. Miller will make an efficient officer, but he should have some assistance.

Patrick McSteele yesterday demeaned himself very improperly by striking his daughter-in-law, Bridget McSteele, in the face with his fist for some fancied affront. Alderman Butler has issued a warrant for the arrest of the ungallant parent-in-law.

J. C. Stewart yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, charged Frank Flack with false pretense in obtaining fourteen dollars' worth of furniture by representing he had money coming to him from his employer, which was not the case. Warrant issued.

W. A. Gildenfenny, 45 Fifth avenue, sends us thus early copies for October of Godey's Ladies' Book, Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine, and Frank Leslie's large Gazette of Fashion. These several magazines are all rich in letter press and brilliantly illustrated.

Rosanna Carr was annoyed yesterday by the disorderly conduct of Stewart Blakely, who, while intoxicated, made an attack upon her house, on Bedford avenue, and demolished a window sash. Stewart settled the case before Alderman Butler by paying for the damage.

Aquatic.—Yesterday we received a telegram announcing that a sculling match over a course of five miles for a purse of $1,000 has been concluded between Renforth, the English champion, and Henry Coulter, of this city. The race will probably be on Canadian waters.

Charles Hochman, a boy about thirteen years of age, was taken before Justice Ferguson, of Mount Washington, yesterday, for throwing a stone and hitting a little daughter of Newton Dilly on the forehead, inflicting a severe gash. The case was subsequently amicably settled.

Poisoned.—Katy Collins and Lizzie Mair, aged respectively eight and five years, residing on Nineteenth street, were poisoned Sunday by eating the seeds of "Gympson" weed. Dr. Dancan was summoned and administered the proper antidotes, and it is thought they will recover.

Trespass.—Mrs. Mary McGinniss visited the premises of Polk Lanahan yesterday uninvited and refused to "git out" when so requested by Polk. This forms the basis for an information for trespass before Deputy Mayor Nichols, upon which a warrant was issued for Mrs. McGinniss' arrest.

Two to One.—George Torly and Wm. Ferry acknowledge that they were knocked down by Charles Neff and then kicked and trampled by their muscular foe. They seek redress in law, and Deputy Mayor Nichols has issued warrants for the arrest of Neff for aggravated assault and battery.

Toll Collector in Trouble.—Alderman Moreland yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of John Grimes, a toll keeper on the Butler Plank Road, who was charged by Joseph Burghart with larceny by bailee in taking one dollar from the prosecutor for toll and refusing to hand back any "change."

Official Visit.—The officers of the Grand Chapter of the Masonic fraternity of this State will pay an official visit to Allegheny Chapter on Wednesday evening, when an inspection of the officers' work will be made. On Tuesday morning they will meet for the exemplification of the work of the Chapter.

"Black Sheep."—Hugh Mensen says he went to the Keystone Mill seeking employment, when Samuel McKee, one of the hands, ordered him from about the premises, called him a "black sheep," and threatened to put a hot iron bar through him if he didn't leave. He left. Alderman Thomas will investigate the case to-day.

Surety.—Elizabeth Deyer made information against Mrs. Murray for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued.

David Thomas made information against Elizabeth Evans for surety, alleging that the accused came to his house and threatened to abuse his wife. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

The Hartung Case.—Last evening a meeting of the members of the German Evangelical Church on Smithfield street was held at which the case of Otto C. Hartung was called up. The action of the Trustees in instituting legal measures against him, was endorsed and the Board instructed to proceed with the case and have it fully investigated by law.

Landlord and Tenant.—Zavier Zimmerman and his landlord, John Martin, had a little dispute in regard to their business dealings, which according to Zimmerman's statement resulted in his being whipped by Martin, who was assisted by his brothers, James and Patrick. The parties reside on the Greensburgh Pike. Alderman Arent has issued warrants for the arrest of the Martins for assault and battery.

Fire.—Between two and three o'clock Sunday afternoon the residence of Mr. Wm. Barker, Jr., on Squirrell Hill caught fire and was entirely destroyed. The flames were first discovered breaking out through the roof, and it is thought the fire originated from the kitchen chimney. The neighbors collected and rendered all the assistance possible, and succeeded in saving the greater part of the furniture. The house was a frame structure and was nearly new.

Alderman McMasters yesterday was made acquainted with the alleged circumstances in a case wherein James Carmack appears as in dread of James Breadlin, who, had threatened to increase the mortality lists of the Carmack family by helping James to start on the long journey into the unknown—the Land of the Hereafter. James don't want to go—just yet, hence his anxiety. The Alderman soothed him by issuing a warrant citing Breadlin to appear in his magisterial presence at his earliest convenience.

The New Australian Metal.—We have pleasure in announcing the arrival of Mr. De Haan, of the firm of De Haan & Co., from Birmingham, England, introducing his famous Alluminous Pen, used exclusively in the House of Parliament. This pen is composed of a new metal found in Australia, and has the extraordinary quality of being non-corrosive. We have no doubt this pen can be found at any of the prominent stationery houses. The office is at Smithfield street, where orders will receive prompt attention.

Orchard Thieving.—Sunday afternoon a quartette of boys invaded the orchard of Mr. Charles Goehring, Spring Hill, Allegheny, and besides helping themselves to the fruit, damaged the trees considerably. They were observed by the gentleman's son who gave chase but failed to capture them. Yesterday information was made before Alderman Arrent against Jno. Eichley, Phillip Eswein, Jas. Altman and Joseph Smith, who had been ascertained to be the invaders, for malicious mischief. Warrants were issued.

Felonious Assault.—Last evening William Zender, keeper of a beer saloon on Spring Garden avenue, Seventh ward, Allegheny, came before Mayor Callow and made information, charging Adam Goeltz with felonious assault and battery. Goeltz, it was alleged, had entered the saloon fighting drunk and demanded more liquor, which was refused, when he attacked Zender, cutting him with knuckles on the head and biting him severely on the arm. The officers succeeded in arresting the accused about ten o'clock. He will have a hearing this morning.

Fearful Leap.—Miss Mary Schrider, a young lady about seventeen years of age, who for some time past has been mentally deranged, was left alone in her room, on the second floor of her father's house, Eighth street, Birmingham, on Saturday evening, and jumped from the window to the side walk, a distance of over twenty-four feet. Her leg was broken by the fall, but notwithstanding she crawled to the Clinton mills, about three squares from her residence. She was taken home in a buggy and a physician sent for, who attended to her injuries.

Sweet Sweetness.—A couple of residents of [illegible] dropped into Alderman Donaldson's office, Penn street, yesterday in a legal way. They appeared in the characters of prosecutor and defendant, the former being represented by John N. Springer and the latter by John M. Cunningham. It was assault and battery and surety of the peace combined. [illegible] which was improved in getting up a row between them, wherein Springer suffered. Hence the visit to legal headquarters. The Alderman succeeded in settling the case, by allowing them to pay the costs.

Missionary from India.—Rev. J. D. Brown, recently from the Methodist Episcopal Church mission work in India, preached Sunday evening in the Liberty Street M. E. Church. The pastor of this church, Rev. L. R. Gardner, and Rev. Mr. Brown, were formerly members of the same (East Baltimore) conference. The sermon was listened to with much interest by quite a goodly congregation. [illegible] the Bishop proceeding to the Holy Land.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Kirkpatrick.

MONDAY, Sept. 19.—The District Court convened at 10 A. M., Judge Kirkpatrick on the bench.

The first case taken up was that of the City of Pittsburgh vs. Joseph H. Nobbs. Action to recover money alleged to be due and unpaid. The defendant was elected City Gauger, and there appears to have been some misunderstanding as to what amount or proportion of the fees charged and collected by defendant should be paid into the City Treasury. Under the ordinance the Gauger was required to pay the two-thirds of the fees collected in the discharge of the duties of the office of City Gauger, and retain the one-third as compensation for his labor. The ordinance only fixed the price for gauging certain packages, and it is alleged that the Gauger gauged certain other packages not enumerated in the ordinance, for which he received a large amount of money in fees and made no return of the same to the City Treasurer, as required. The jury found for the plaintiffs in the sum of $5,22 16, subject to the opinion of the Court, on the question of law, reserved.

THE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

A New Plan Suggested for the Superintendency.

Mr. Pryor, Principal of the Second ward Public Schools, presents the following as his plan for the proper conduct and government of the common schools of the county:

I propose the following as a substitute for the office of District Superintendency, and in doing so feel confident that it will prove to be the least objectionable form of centralized power. It will prevent all the evils of the one-man power, and still possess all of its privileges and benefits. Under its management the Public School system will progress more rapidly, and attain to a higher degree of developement. Teachers will be brought in closer proximity in the social relation. There will be a greater unity of feeling and of interest, and the result will be the interests of all will be promoted and protected. My plan is as follows:

Let every town, borough and city in the Commonwealth be a separate school district, centralized for that purpose, by conferring upon the Principals of such district, in their associate capacity the powers and privileges that are now conferred upon District Superintendents alone; and, in order to make each district a unit, let these principal teachers be organized into an association, to be governed by a constitution, which shall be approved of by the Board of Controllers or Directors having jurisdiction over said district. Let them also have full power to make all such rules, regulations and by-laws as are essential to carry into execution the powers and privileges conferred upon them.

This Association would cease to exist, on the 30th June of each year, coinciding with the term for which teachers are usually appointed. Then to prevent a hiatus and to make the Association continuous, let the time for the appointment of teachers be synchronous with the time above mentioned. The necessity of this arrangement will be apparent when we consider that most of the administrative duties of this Association will occur during the annual vacation. This Association, as Superintendent, should have the power to appoint annually one of its number as President, one as Secretary, and three as a committee to examine and grant certificates to all candidates found worthy to be employed as teachers in said district. It should also have power to make visitations to all the schools in the district quarterly. The Association, as Superintendent, should also have power to recommend for adoption all text books, maps, globes, charts, &c., to be used in the district, to make out a system of education, establish grades, to make all rules, regulations, &c., for the government of the schools of the district, subject to the approval of the Board of Control, and, also, to exercise all the functions of Superintendent.

By such an arrangement the dictatorial power would be the combined intellect of all the leading teachers in the district, in the form of a decree, and would be a much more acceptable and much more infallible guide to each teacher than would be the orders and commands of a single person as District Superintendent. The Board of teachers in their corporate capacity would be the executive power, limited only by the Board of Controllers, when they sit in judgment upon their acts. The Board itself would be the judicial power exercising supervisory functions.

By this arrangement, also, the entire educational interest of the district would be controlled by a single mind, namely, the Board of Teachers, through its decrees. There would be unity from plurality. The Board of Teachers would thus have, as they should have, the power to select all text books, &c., to be used in their schools; all power to regulate the internal workings of the schools of the district. The Secretary of the Board of Teachers should transmit to the Board of Directors monthly and annually reports, compiled from similar reports from the Principal of each school. He should also compile and keep a record of all the statistics connected with his district, and for this duty he should be paid a salary commensurate with the extra duties performed.

Pastor Chosen.

Last evening a congregational meeting was held at the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Allegheny. It was called for the purpose of electing a pastor for the charge, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of the venerable Dr. Sproull, which occurred about a year ago. Since that time several meetings have been held without, however, resulting in a satisfactory choice. At one of them a pastor was chosen, but the vote was so close that no formal call was made upon him, and he never accepted the pastorate. The matter has been the subject of considerable discussion in the church and created great excitement, but affairs will in all probability quiet down with the action of last evening.

The meeting was called to order about half-past seven o'clock, and its object stated by the Chairman. There were two candidates for the position, Rev. John W. Sproull, son of the former pastor, and Rev. David B. Wilson. The ballot was entered into without discussion, and proceeded quietly. The result showed 120 votes for Mr. Sproull and 120 for Mr. Wilson. When it had been announced Mr. Wilson was declared elected, he having received a majority of all the votes cast. A motion was then made to make the election unanimous, but it was not seconded and could not be acted upon. Following the announcement the people proceeded to sign a formal call upon Mr. Wilson. The business occupied the evening until ten o'clock.

Important Newspaper Change.

The Hearth and Home, a finely illustrated family journal of a high character, hitherto issued by Messrs. Pettengill, Bates & Co., has been purchased by Messrs. Orange Judd & Co., of 245 Broadway, New York, the well known publishers of the American Agriculturist. Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., whose great Advertising Agency, established in 1849, is one of the largest and most reputable in the world, find that their extensive business requires their exclusive attention, and they therefore transfer Hearth and Home to the new publishers, whose long experience and abundant facilities will enable them not only to maintain the past high character of the paper, but to add materially to its value. The new publishers also announce a reduction of the terms to $3 per year. The change will not at all affect the American Agriculturist, which will continue on independent as heretofore. The illustrations and reading matter of the two journals will be entirely different. Either of the journals will be furnished from now to the end of 1871 (15 months), at the yearly subscription rate, viz: the Weekly Hearth and Home, at $3; the Monthly American Agriculturist, $1.50; or the two for $4.

A Reminder.

EDITORS GAZETTE: Will you allow me to point out to the notice of the Republican voters of this county that our Governor, Gen. Geary in a public address to the citizens of Pennsylvania published a few months ago, warned the voters not to send Representatives to Harrisburg who had votes for the exchange of securities now in the Treasury of this State for the newer securities of [illegible] railroads &c., whether such new securities were good or bad. Also that Joseph Walton is one who did thus vote last winter at Harrisburg and so comes under the Governor's censure. SOUTH SIDE.

THE SOUTH SIDE.

Rowdyism—What Caused It—Its Results.

Rowdyism was rampant on the South Side Saturday night and Sunday, and, as a consequence, the several "conservators of the peace" on that side of the river were benefited to the extent of several dollars in costs. Such conduct as was prevalent there Saturday night is not characteristic of the good people of the thriving boroughs along the south bank of the Monongahela, and there must have been some moving cause for it, and the question naturally follows, what did it?

A prominent magistrate in one of the boroughs is of opinion it was Walton's speech. He says it was enough to raise a riot in any community where there are public schools, unless there is a very strong moral tendency, such as exists with the South Siders. They not only have public schools, and good ones, but the author of an excellent work on English grammar resides in the community, and there exists, very naturally, a veneration for Murray, Kirkham, Brown, Covel, Burt, and other authors, whose precepts were totally ignored and the "King's English" horribly butchered by Mr. Walton. The people could not stand it. The moral sentiment was strong enough to prevent a riot, but not sufficiently strong to preserve the peace of the Commonwealth intact.

The effect was more noticeable in Birmingham than in either of the other boroughs, and as it was there the "Maiden Speech" was delivered it is not improbable that it had something to do with the state of affairs.

In explanation of how many of those upon whom the speech was inflicted conducted themselves we give the following instances:

Barney Reese and Jack Elliott, who had formerly been fast friends, became involved in a controversy on the subject of English grammer, and the affair terminated in a fight. The victims were arrested and taken before Justice Heisel who imposed a fine on each of them.

Alfred Perry, who was employed to attend the meeting and applaud the speakers, got drunk. Officer Miller got him and Justice Heisel required him to pay a fine of one dollar and costs.

Joseph Nichol and his spouse, Mrs. Nichol, constituted themselves reformers and undertook to reform George Hasley and his family, who live in an adjoining house, for some imaginary abuse of privilege. George complained to Justice Heisel and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the reformers.

Samuel Geiser took a large quantity of beer aboard and imagining himself a reformer, repaired to his boarding house on Bingham street, and made a formal demand on the landlord to "abdicate" in his favor. The landlord could'nt see it, and George resolved that if he could not run the house he would "smash" things, and commenced by breaking the windows. Officer Eichley happened around and took the reformer into custody and conducted him before Justice Krehan, who held him to bail for a hearing.

Conrad Bateman, Daniel Lingetter and Jos. Lippert, after getting a quantity of whisky aboard, thought a reform necessary in the windows of some of the dwellings in the upper part of the town, and in order to compel the owners and occupants of the houses to make the reform, they "smashed" the glass out of eight or ten windows.

H. J. Richards, one of the sufferers, complained to Justice Krehan, and he issued a warrant for the arrest of the reformers.

There were a number of other instances, but the above serves to show how the people were effected.

FATAL FALL.

A Man Precipitated from the Fourth Story of the New City Hall to the Cellar, and Killed Instantly.

A fearful accident, resulting in the instant death of James Dugan, a laborer employed at the new City Hall building, occurred yesterday morning. At the time of the accident Mr. Dugan and others were engaged in removing some scaffolding on the fourth story, which had been used by the brick layers, and, with a board in his arms, stepped upon the end of a plank, which he thought secure, but, unfortunately, the end of the plank upon which he be stepped projected for some distance over the joist upon which it lay and when the man walked out upon it, his weight caused it to tilt and he was precipitated to the cellar, a distance of seventy-five feet. His companions were in a manner paralyzed at the terrible sight for some minutes, but as soon as they recovered they hastened to the cellar, where they found the lifeless form of Mr. Dugan, horribly crushed and mangled. In the descent his head had come in contact with one of the iron joists on the second story, crushing the skull and scattering his brains in every direction and breaking his neck. The Coroner was notified of the sad accident and repairing to the spot held an inquest, when the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Deceased was a single man about nineteen years of age, and resided in the city.

Delicious Ale—First Premium Awarded J. M. Carson & Co. for the Best Cream Ale by the Inter-State Fair.

There was on exhibition at the recent Inter State Fair a modest looking half barrel of cream ale which, from the brand on the outside, made many a thirsty and dust covered visitor on the grounds sigh because not one of the judges, whose superlatively great privilege was to drink from the cask, when dry. It was J. M. Carson & Co.'s celebrated cream ale, which was entered for the prize, and which of course was in due time awarded the first premium for its purity and general excellence. The Judges were Messrs. Wm. Hamilton and W. R. Elliott, and we are sure they made no mistake in their judgment and discrimination in favor of this, all the praise of which has long been almost universal. After the ale had been passed upon the exhibitors placed it on free tap in the Committee room adjoining the President's headquarters, and as many as an hundred connoisseurs were invited to partake of the delicious and health-giving beverage. They did so and the unanimous verdict was that the ale could possibly have no superior. An English friend, who had never before admitted that our ale even approached in excellence that made in the great breweries of his own land, went into ecstacies over his glass of beautiful foaming ale as it came bubbling forth as pure as crystal and too tempting to resist, from that prize barrel, and exclaimed, "Well, the time 'as come when we 'ave the 'ops to make 'ale as good as merry H'england h'ever saw." He was converted, and so would all liberal minded Englishmen be brought over to a keen appreciation of the American ale if such a quality as that brewed by Messrs. J. M. Carson & Co. was presented them for an expression of opinion as to its merits and superiority. The cream ale, a specimen of which took the first prize, is intended for family consumption, and for the dinner table and sick chamber. It is light, full of life and nutrition, and commended in the very highest terms by the medical profession as pure strength-giving and blood-warming. The other ales brewed by Carson & Co., whose establishment is one of the largest and best appointed in the State, located on the corner of Duquesne way and Barker's alley, are also of superior quality and have attained a national reputation. Orders from families in the city, hotels and saloons delivered promptly, and shipments by rail or river made in safe packages.

Wooden Pavements.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Just at this particular time the subject of wooden pavements attracts much attention, inasmuch as great improvements are going on in various parts of the city, on the principal thoroughfares. I observe that the Miller Patent Pavement Company has been awarded the contract for introducing their block pavement on the eastern end of Penn Avenue, at the sum of two dollars and sixty-five cents per yard. This award, I think, should not have been made, if anything of worth is to be derived from the practical experience of other large cities. New York City contains not a single yard of the Miller Pavement, and in one year there has been but one street laid with it. Now, as a citizen interested in the subject, and not interested in the profits derived from contracts, wishing only to see the best pavements laid at the least cost, all things else being equal, I would protest against the further adoption of the Miller pavement till the subject is more thoroughly understood, and the relative merits of the respective pavements are known. I know that the Wicoff pavement, a sample of which is laid and has been effectually tested at the corner of Second avenue and Ross street, where great and heavy travel over it is constantly experienced, could have been obtained at a bid (laid before the awarders) of two dollars and ten cents per yard, or fifty-five cents per yard cheaper than the Miller bid, which was accepted. Now the Miller patent men demand forty cents a yard for preserving the wood by the Robbins process, while the Wicoff agents ask for the same thing only twenty-eight cents per yard. It is currently reported on the public streets that agents of the Miller pavement offered a well known and reliable citizen, who was formerly a member of the City Council, who resides on the line of the avenue, the sum of $5,000 if he would secure to them the job of Penn avenue. If this is true, and I believe it is, too much care cannot be exercised in awarding these contracts. Let it be known also that the difference of price between the Wicoff pavement which has been successfully tried in this city and the Miller, which is not as all known in this community, amounts in round numbers to no less than fifty thousand dollars. Let the subject of wooden pavements then receive proper attention in this day of economy in all things public. VERITAS.

Delinquent Jurors.

The following named gentlemen having been summoned as Jurors for the present term of the Quarter Sessions Court, failed to put in an appearance, whereupon the Court ordered that attachments issue and be placed in the hands of the Sheriff, and that a fine of $20 and costs be imposed upon each of them: George Goldbach, Henry Large, Wm. Jenkinson, James S. Keogh, G. A. Mundorff, W. S. Jackson, John Nusser, Wm. B. Dravo, Sr., Wm. McOwen, Wm. Cooper, W. S. Bissell, John Duff, Byron Ackhard.

Suffocation.

Saturday night, as appears from an information at the Mayor's office made by George Sterling, Nicholas Collins, Thomas Craft, Wm Hawelden and George Lewis went to Mr. Sterling's boarding house at the corner of First avenue and Ferry street and called him out, and as soon as he made his appearance they made an attack upon him, knocking him down and breaking his nose. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused, and they were brought before His Honor and gave bail for a hearing at 10 o'clock this morning on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—"Rosedale," a pleasing drama, was presented at the Opera House last evening, with Mr. Lawrence Barrett in the role of "Elliott Grey." The piece has an excellent plot, and is full of striking but not improbable situations, and while the leading character is conspicuous and a most excellent one, the author was not so contracted in his ideas as to concentrate the entire force and beauty of the play in one character, but with a generous hand has distributed it throughout the cast. Elliott Grey is, however, a difficult role to play, and the man who personates the character, as did Mr. Barrett last evening, must possess genius of no ordinary merit. He was Elliott Grey throughout the piece, never once losing his identification with the character in the slightest degree. The scene in the Gipsy's camp was the most thrilling and produced the greatest effect upon the audience of anything of the kind we have ever witnessed, and the interview between Elliott Grey and Colonel May was a masterly piece of acting. The cast was a most excellent one, and we doubt if Mr. Barrett was ever better supported in "Rosedale" than he was last evening. It would perhaps be unfair to single out any one of the company, so well were all the characters supported.

ACADEMY.—"The Field of the Cloth of Gold" was produced at the Academy of Music last evening by the Fiske Burlesque Troupe, in a better style than it has ever been presented in this city, and there was quite a large audience in attendance. The character of the entertainments at the Academy are such as to attract and please a first class audience, and we are pleased to see that ladies are evincing their appreciation of this character of amusements by attending in large numbers. The ladies enjoy a laugh as well as the sterner sex and certainly they should not be deprived of a single opportunity from indulging in it. The entertainments are diversified with negro comicalities, Irish excentricities, German peculiarities and many other attractions of a versatile character.

VARIETIES.—The "Four Blondes" are one of the great attractions at the Varieties and they with the others, too numerous to mention, continue to attract large audiences to this establishment nightly.

LAFAYETTE HALL.—The attendance at the Fair for the benefit of St. Joseph's Church (colored), held under the auspices of the ladies of St. Bridget's Church, continues nightly to draw large crowds. The voting contests are all lively and interesting. Mr. Wm. Moseby is ahead for the elegant gold watch. Promenades are held each evening and excellent music is furnished by the Cathedral Brass Band.

Strickler & Morledge Ahead.

Premium Coffee and Spices.—It is with a feeling of pride and unmixed pleasure that we refer to the fact of the success of the well known Iron City Spice and Mustard Mills, Messrs. Strickler & Morledge, proprietors.

This establishment was represented at the Inter-State Fair, with a collection of Spices of different kinds, and Roasted Coffee, in one pound packages and loose, taken at random from their mill, without reference to their being put up especially for the occasion. The judges, after a careful examination of the stock, without hesitation awarded them the premium medal on Spices and Roasted Coffee.

This is one of the most reliable firms in the city, and having established a reputation for honesty and fair dealing, they will endeavor to sustain it.

Persons desiring anything in their line, should not fail to give them a call. Their goods are also to be had at all the leading grocery houses.

The German Relief Fund.

Last night at Turner Hall Mr. Henry Paulus, of the Fifth ward, Allegheny, paid into the treasury of the Relief Fund for the wounded of the German soldiers and their families, the following sums, which he collected from his fellow-citizens:

A. P. Callow, $5; Henry Paulus, $25; Henry Dallmyer, $25; F. Anderson, $25, Allegheny Lodge No. 29, U. O. I. G. B. donation $50; Philip Oesterling; $5; Alex. Berner, $10; Wm. Stewart, $5; James Thompson, $5; Louis Steitz, $5; Dr. Jas. McCarroll, $5; Thomas Carson, $5; George Bothwell, $5; Fred Altvater, $5; R. F. Bauman, $5; Adam Heyl, 5; F. Mensendick, $3; Peter Bates, 2; Henry Mussler, $5; John Mussler, $5; Christ. Jeckel, $5; Simeon Buiford, $2; W. G. Lee; $1; George Black, $1; Wm. McCallum, $2.45; James Marshall, $1; E. Schlag, $2; Wm. Paulus, $2; John Heath, $10; John A. Scott, $2; Isadore Cobleus, $0; Aug. Beireis, $2; George Heusner, $5; Wm. McKee, of Diamond Flour Mill, $10; John A. Cochran, $2. Total, $282.45.

Death of Captain Thomas J. Brereton.

Dispatches from Yonkers, New York, where for some time past Captain Brereton has lain sick, were received last night reporting the death on Sunday evening of our friend and townsman. This sad news was not wholly unexpected, as for about a year his nervous system has been severely wrecked. Hopes of his recovery were for a time stimulated by favorable symptoms, but although every expedient has been perseveringly tried, his fell disease triumphed over all remedies, and a high minded, cultivated man, and a devout and humble Christian, has gone to his reward. Many, very many attached friends will, on their own account, as well as in hearty sympathy for his sorely stricken family, long remember and sincerely lament the untimely death of a dear friend and a good man.

Daring Robbery.

Mr. J. B. Williams, formerly connected with the Health Department of this city, was attacked by two men and robbed Sunday night about twelve o'clock. Mr. W. was coming down Liberty street, near Garrison alley, when the men seized hold of him and drew him into the alley, where one of them held a hand over the victim's mouth while the other endeavored to "go through" him. Mr. Williams did not submit to this treatment as quietly as they thought he should do, and one of them struck him a stunning blow on the head with a "billy," which knocked him down. They then took his gold watch and chain, worth about three hundred dollars, and left their victim lying senseless in the gutter. The watch was a present to Mr. W. from one of our lodges of Odd Fellows, and his name is engraven on the inside of one of the cases.

Robbery at East Liberty.—Yesterday morning the residence of Mr. James Graham, at East Liberty, was robbed of $800 in cash. Mr. Graham had retired the previous evening, placing the money under his pillow. He awoke several hours afterward and found the money all right. In the morning it was gone. Upon investigating he found the window shutter had been forced open and the window raised. A small lamp was also found burning in one of the lower rooms. Mr. Graham had just drawn the money upon a dissolution of the firm of Graham & Kuhn, of which he had been a member. No clue.

The French Preparations For War.

The Economist says: "Two remarkable statements have been made, throwing a curious light on the strange ignorance and recklessness with which the French Government rushed into the present war. One is that the Danish Government refused to ally itself with France, partly on account of the assurance of its agents in France that that country was unprepared. There is perhaps some want of authority for this, but the second statement appears at least to be quite authentic. It is made in the city article of the Times, in explanation of the cause why about 200,000 scrip, or one-fifth of the whole Austrian debt, has not yet been converted into the new scrip, althought the period allotted has nearly expired. The reason is that 'the largest part of the outstanding amount is supposed to be in France, and the delay is accounted for by the fact that the Austrian Finance Commissioners for carrying out the conversion ceased their duties on the outbreak of the war, and, acting on superior orders, came over to London with their stocks of paper and silver, rents, obligation, and scrip.' This is in effect an assertion that the Austrian Government must have had reason to anticipate a decisive French defeat, and the interruption of the business of the Austrian Commissioners. It is surely astonishing that with its dangerous situation known to friendly foreign powers, as well as to many of its subject, the French Government should either have received no warning, or have been foolish enough to explain the desertion of France by more than one power, which might have had something to gain by helping it."

IT is stated that when, fired by the news of German victory, an enthusiastic citizen of Augusta, Ga., put out a North German flag; to most of his fellow-citizens the sight was novel, and after considerable consultation, they decided that a violent case of small-pox had broken out in the house and the flag had been put out as a pest banner. IN New York, for some time past, two women (neighbors) have had an ill-feeling. Last Monday one of them gave $5 to a negro boy to kill the other's daughter, a child only two years old. The negro has been arrested, charged with murder. The woman who prompted the crime is still at large.

Japanese Fashion—Its Variety and Expensiveness.

The style of dress in Japan is even more varied than it is on Broadway. A Japanese lady, thoroughly arrayed, is quite an elaborate work of art. A large amount of attention, and no little expense, to begin with, is devoted to the arrangement of the hair, even the common people regularly employing a hair dresser. If they cannot afford the luxury every day, they will make it last for two days by sleeping upon a wooden pillow placed under the neck. The item of the next importance is the obi, or girdle, which is arranged behind with great care, so as to form the camel's hump, recently popular among other uncivilized nations. The Grecian bend is an old institution in Japan, and to see one of those dark skinned ladies, with her extensive head dress, a hump upon her back, an extremely narrow skirt, high wooden pattens, her body thrown forward as she minces her way along, you would imagine that she was caricaturing the brainless votaries of fashion in other lands; but she is only dressing as her people have dressed, and walking as they have walked, perhaps for centuries.

ADVERTISEMENT—GREAT SPIRITUAL TRICK.—Prof. VAN DORAN, the great Spiritual Medium, will expose to the public one of the greatest tricks of the age, said to be performed only by departed spirits, namely: The art of untieing yourself after you have been securely bound with ropes, cords, or even waxed ends. Any person sending me $1.00 and three postage stamps will receive by return mail full instructions how to free yourself in 30 seconds from any rope, cord or waxed end, no matter how hard, or in what shape, you are tied you can surely get free and present whatever you are tied with the same as before. Any person can learn after an hour's practice with my instructions. This truly wonderful feat is now being performed throughout the country by the celebrated Davenport Brothers, and represented by them to be the work of departed spirits, but of this you can judge after getting my instructions. Secure this knowledge and you will have an unprecedented opportunity for making a fortune for yourself by instructing others. All want the great secret. By sending $1 50 and four stamps I will send beside the above instructions how to light a lamp with a piece of ice, and also how to make any card jump out of the pack. Address,
PROF. VAN DORAN, Oil City, Pa.
